BRITAIN TO REVERT TO GOLD STANDARD?

Out Of The Gloaming.

Baron Brabourne has become famous overnight. On Thursday evening he was an unknown quantity, and on Friday morning he had suddenly risen to be the Governor-designate of Bombay—the Gateway of India. Something like a Derby Sweep!

* * * *

The Anglo-Indian papers write cautiously about the new Governor, not being sure of their ground. But soon they will be busy investing him or his wife with virtues. The research magnificent is going on, and we shall hear more of it as days pass.

* * * *

"The transference of judiciary and police is very dangerous to all concerned" says the manifesto of the India Defence League. Somehow Police and Judiciary always seem to go together in these discussions, suggesting perfect team work.

* * * *

But, of course, the transference will be dangerous. At present the lives and liberties of Indians are safe under the Ordinances and strict protection and careful supervision of the Police. Just think of your fate if all this is changed.

* * * *

Bori Bunder is shrieking to India to close up her ranks and fight for the White Paper, under the united banner of Hoare and Willingdon, to the last ditch. Nothing doing! If we've got to end in a ditch, we'd like it to be one of our own choosing.

* * * *

"The need of the hour is a United India", screams the Old Lady, waving her umbrella furiously in a ferment of pseudo-patriotism. If that's the need she can close down on it. India is united all right—against the White Paper!

* * * *

In Ireland the Dail deputies take their politics more earnestly, than our Indian legislators. In Ireland they speak, swear, and than come to blows. In India we make speeches first, speeches second and speeches last, and then walk into the Government lobby, a la the Poona Moulvi

* * * *

But then the Irish proved their fitness to govern by showing their capacity for violence. India has shown her unfitness by demonstrations of non-violence. Let's hope this wont come under the Press Act.

* * * *

"Press laws and Ordinances are not going to stay for ever. Let there be no violent rebound when the people are restored to freedom" warns the "Sind Observer". It's difficult to be patient with such obtusity. Doesn't the silly thing know that the Ordinances have restored freedom?

* * * *

"Unless some miracle emerges from the Economic Conference to restore prosperity, what prospect is there for the future?" asks the London "Times". Quaite! What prospect is there? Absolutely none, and there ain't going to be no miracle!

* * * *

"In the West it (journalism) is a profession, in India it is a disease" says the "Sind Observer," and we are inclined to agree with it from the phraseological jumble that follows all under the caption "Midnight Murmurs"

* * * *

He was about to leave for the office. His wife handed him a small parcel.

"What's this, dear" he asked.

"It's bottle of hair tonic," she replied.

"Oh, that's very nice of you, dear," he said, "but——"

"It isn't for you; it's for your typist", she explained. "Her hair is coming out badly on your coat."

CHAMBERLAIN ON CREATING CONFIDENCE

Check Fluctuations By Fixing Up Parity

Possible Outcome Of Roose-Donald Debt. Parleys

LONDON, June 2.

Speaking in the House of Commons on the debate on a motion for Whitsun adjournment, Mr. Nevil Chamberlain thought that they must revert to gold standard as a body and be capable of inspiring confidence provided certain conditions were observed, which would prevent gold from being subjected to defects, which had recently brought it to ground. "We must try to fix the standard at party which would be accepted and worked by nations as a whole."

He added, British views on debts had been further developed in MacDonald-Roosevelt conversation but declined to say more for fear of misunderstanding in America.

OUTSIDER'S SURPRISE VICTORY AT EPSOM

Chateline Easily Wins Fillies Classic Followed By Solfatara And Furtor

LONDON, June 2.

The Oaks run at Epsom to-day overa a distance of one mile four furlongs resulted as follows:—

Chatelaine	1
Solfatara	2
Furtor	3

Fourteen ran.

The race won by one and half lengths. Two lengths separated Second and Third.

The following were the starting prices:—

25/1 against Chatelaine. 20/1 Solfatara. 100/8 Furtor.

Runners were identical with probables.

Exception:—Sammy Wragg rides Chatelaine.—Reuter.

HOW THEY STARTED

LATER.

After a good start Gerrards Cross made running from Katherine Roet, Star of England, Betty, Solfatara, and Coin of Realm with Arethusa last. After a half mile, Gerrards Cross was clear of Solfatara, Versicle, Betty, Katherine Roet and Chatelaine with Shelanagig now last.

At the top of the hill Versicle took lead, and having been joined by Betty, together they raced round Tottenham Corner but both dropped back beaten in straight, where Solfatara went in front. At a distance, Chatelaine put in strong challenge, winning easily.

Brown Betty was fourth, Arethusa fifth and Celestial City sixth.

The winning time was two minutes thirty-four and fourfifth seconds.

OUTSIDER'S VICTORY

At Epsom Their Majesties, the Princess Royal and countless thousands watched the fillies classic.

The real surprise was occasioned by the victory of an outsider, Chatelaine, a very temperamental filly, who has not won the previous race in her six outings. She is accompanied by White Goat as stable companion, who is at present in stable keeping guard and awaiting Victor's return.

Owner of the winner, Thornton Smith, is a director of the famous store, Fortnum Mason, also the Government Director of Ministry of Agriculture. Prominent performance of the second, Miss Courtauld's Solfatara makes a poor performance of Manitoba in Derby most perplexing as he recently gave her 22 pounds and beating. Fur Tor, who was third, was Manton's second string and is owned by a Washington singer. She proved better than Betty who was a firm 2-1 favourite.

HIS HOPES SHATTERED.

Lord Stanley, son of Derby winner, Lord Derby, came from Geneva in the hopes of repeating his father's victory but Versicle like Betty was not a stayer.

The race again proved uncertainty of the weaker sex, as backers learnt to their cost.—Reuter.

BELMONT HANDICAP

Special Cable.

At Epsom to-day in the Belmont handicap run over five furlongs Mr. Stalary's filly Devineress broke world's record for five furlongs, covering the distance in fiftyfour and threefifths seconds representnig a speed of over fortyone miles per hour.

EFFICACY OF EPIC FAST

20 Temples Thrown Open In 21 Days

GANDHIJI & "HARIJAN"

Municipalities Evince Greater Interest In Uplift Work

POONA, June 2.

The current issue of the "Harijan", which came out of the press this evening was perhaps the first printed matter. Gandhiji glanced through since the commencement of the fast. He would have been particularly interested in reports regarding the Harijan uplift work done during the fast, which has been prominently displayed.

Reports show that about 20 temples were opened to the Harijans during this period, while numerous educational institutions were started all over India, one of them being in Vappangudi, the scene of Nattar Harijan trouble in South India.

NATTAR HARIJAN TROUBLE.

It will be remembered that reference had been made to the Nattar Harijan trouble by Mr. Mahadev Desai as one of the many incidents, which were responsible for the fast.

The prominent feature of the reports published is the interest that is being taken by municipalities in the Harijan uplift work. —A. P.

SCUTTLE ?—NEVER !

India Has To Travel Long Distance, Says Meston

LONDON, June 2.

Safeguards contained in the White Paper provide final answer to any charge of scuttle, declares Lord Meston summing up the case for the White Paper in an article in the "Spectator".

Lord Meston adds that powers reserved are a sharp reminder of Britain's determination to see reasonable standards of good government observed. Safeguards are measure of distance that India has still to travel before attaining Dominion Status. How long journey will take depends largely on co-operation of Indian leaders. They have it in their hands to make the new constitution success and shorten the period of transition contemplated. The White Paper certainly gives them generous opportunity of doing so.—Reuter.

GANDHIJI REGAINS STRENGTH SLOWLY

Able To Digest Diet Says Dr. Erulkar

POONA, June 2.

Dr. A. S. Erulkar of Bombay examined Gandhiji this afternoon and has issued the following bulletin:—

"Gandhiji is regaining his strength slowly. He is free from physical discomfort, sleeps well and is able to digest the diet, on which he has been put. He will need an absolute mental and physical rest before he can be said to have returned to his normal condition."—A.P.

KASHMIR SITUATION WORSENS

Troops Open Fire On Noisy Demonstrators

ONE KILLED, MANY HURT

Another Batch Damages Polo Ground Railings And Refuses To Disperse

SRINAGAR, June 2.

The Kashmir Durbar has issued the following communique:—

On the morning of the 1st of June a crowd of hooligans pelted the police and military with stones in the Maisuma Bazar and in one place the troops were forced to open fire, one man being killed and several injured.

Later small but very noisy crowds collected in the Civil Lines and obstructed the traffic on the roads past Nedous Hotel on one side and past the Post Office and Residency on the other side of the Polo Ground. Except for damaging the the railings of the Polo Ground the crowds here were not violent and confined themselves to noisy demonstrations and to sitting or standing on the roads. They were consequently left alone after efforts to persuade them to disperse peacefully had been tried and failed.

By the evening the crowds had thinned considerably, but a noisy nucleus remained in the Civil Lines all night. The city remained quiet during the day and night. The situation is causing some anxiety but it is in hand and showing signs of improving.—A. P.

The torturing agony of a widow's life is portrayed by Menaka in this dance.

The warm reception accorded by the public of Bombay to Menaka's recent dance-recitals in this city, following her successful tour of Europe, is still fresh in our minds. The full houses at both the performances are an indication that the public would like to see more of her art. Could she not respond with a couple of more recitals in the near future?

The bank rate stands unchanged at 3-1/2 per cent.

EASY CONDITIONS IN GILT-EDGED.

Easier conditions prevailed in the gilt-edge market this week and fluctuations were erratic. This was largely due to speculative activity in 3-1/2 per cent. Paper following the movements in India 3-1/2 per cent. sterling loan.

3-1/2 per cent. Paper fell from Rs. 81-10 to as low as Rs. 79-10, but subsequently improved in mid-week to Rs. 81-8, but again relapsed to Rs. 80-14 and improved at the close.

STERLING EXCHANGE STEADY.

Sterling exchange was steady throughout the week and a fair amount of business was done. At this week's bidding for one million sterling Government alloted approximately 65 per cent. to tenderers.

Purchases of gold by banks and merchandise export bills showing in other centres account for the strength.

There were sellers of ready T. T. at 1/6-1/32 and buyers at 1/6-3/32 with 1/6-1/16 available off and on. The following is the forward rate:—June to Sept. 1/6, 1/32.

The Belga is quoted at 24.21 and the Italian lira at 64.93.

GOLD STABLE.

The tone of the gold market was on the whole steady, but the fluctuations were comparatively sharp and frequent.

Fresh business transacted for export was larger and the arrivals from upcountry are reported to be fairly good.

The price of ready improved from Rs. 30-4-6 to Rs. 30-9-6 in mid-week, but declined to Rs. 30-5-3 and closed at Rs. 30-5-9.

The quotations for June and July settlements are almost the same, which indicate that June settlement will pass off smoothly. In fact, quite a large quantity of gold due on June contracts has already been delivered. The carry overs from June to July settlement are being done at level rates as against a premium on near over forward of about 1-1/2 to 2 annas during the past months.

The fluctuations in the local market were guided by changes in the London-Paris cross rate and the value of the metal in London.

The price of sovereigns moved up in sympathy to Rs. 19-11-3 but closed at Rs. 19-9-9 for ready and delivery June.

In London the quotation for gold improved from 122s. 6d. to 123s.10d. but eased off to 122s. 11d.

The highest and lowest rates in our market were Rs. 30-9-6 and 30-4-6 for ready and June 9 settlement and Rs. 30-9-0 and Rs. 30-4-3 for July 8 settlement.

The total imports during the week amounted to Rs 129.437 in bar and coin.

SILVER STEADIER.

The price of silver tended to be steadier following advices from Shanghai and the other principal silver markets.

The quotations for ready improved from Rs. 57-4 to Rs. 57-14 but the volume of business transacted was restricted. The outlook is still uncertain pendin the discussions on the subject of silver at the forthcoming World Economic Conference.

The daily offtake in the local market, however, is still very small, averaging 30 bars, while stock sare top-heavy at some 10,-000 bars.

In Shanghai the dollars improved from 1s.2-15/16d. to 1s. 3-1/8d.

The highest and lowest rates in London were 19-1/16d. and 18-1/2d. for ready and 19-1/8d. and 18-9/16d. for forward.

In our market, the highest and lowest rates were Rs. 57-14d and Rs. 57-4 for ready; Rs. 58-0 and Rs. 57-6 for June 12 settlement and Rs. 58-9 and Rs. 57-15 for July 12 settlement.

The total imports during the week amounted to Rs. 4,750 in coin.

Firm conditions characterised the Stock Exchange this week and prices advanced substantially particularly in the cotton mill section.

The continued rise in raw cotton and other commodities and purchases by ball operators account for the strength.

GARY COOPER COMES TO PATHE

Star Cast Enacts Unusual Drama In "If I Had A Million"

Have you been looking for something new in pictures? And have you about come to the conclusion that Solomon was right about there being nothing new under the sun, even the Hollywood sun? If you have, you'd better pay a visit to the Pathe Theatre, where "If I Had A Million," a tremendous film-drama with a cast including more than fifteen stars begins its local engagement to-day.

For "If I Had A Million" is a new kind of screen-drama. In conception, in direction, in everything the film is new—so new that you owe it to yourself to see what motion-pictures can do when they kick over the traces of conventionality in film-making, and use the camera and sound equipment with imagination and taste. The movies have never before seen anything quite like this one.

"If I had A Million" is the story of an eccentric millionaire, played by Richard Bennett, who decides to give away his money before he dies. He writes out cheques for a million each and gives these to a group of people, none of whom has ever risen far above the stages of poverty. A downtrodden clerk in a China shop, a street girl, a forger, a tough marine, a murderer, an ex-vaudeville performer, and an inmate of an old lady's home are among the recipients of his gifts, and the manner in which each disposes of his new wealth provides the action of the story.

As fine a cast as has been assembled for "If I Had A Million" is a guarantee in itself of fine performances. Gary Cooper, Jack Oakie, and Roscoe Karns as three dumb marines, who never tumble to the fact that the millionaire isn't kidding them; Gene Raymond, as a boy, condemned to death, and Frances Dee, as his young wife; Allison Skipworth, as Emily, who, only a few years before, had been known to the vaudeville stage as Emily and Her Educated Birds, and W.C. Fields as Rollo, now a chef in Emily's tea-room, but once the Great Rollo, a juggler; Wynne Gibson as Mabel Smith, one of the unfortunates, whose idea of luxury is an expensive hotel room all to herself; Charlie Ruggles as the timid Henry Peabody, who carries China for a boss, named Bullwinkle, and dreams of the day when he can buy a rabbit farm, and Mary Boland as his wife and helpmate; George Raft as a notorious forger, to whom the million comes a few hours too late, and May Robson, as Grandma Walker, a belligerent old lady, who has her own idea about how an old lady's home should be conducted—all give performances that are no less than brilliant.

In the course of the unfolding of the picture, are tragedy, comedy, fantasy, pathos and farce—a whole cross-section of human emotions. It's big, make no mistake about it! And don't fail to see it!

"SON-DAUGHTER" AT CAPITOL

The mazes of San Francisco's Chinatown, its plots, intrigues, and long battles, and the romance of a Chinese girl who sells herself at auction to aid her countrymen furnish the dramatic background of "The Son-Daughter" in which Helen Hayes, winner of the Motion Picture Academy Award for the best acting of 1932, and Ramon Novarro are teamed at the Capitol Theatre.

Miss Hayes appears as Lien Wha, the Chinese heroine who sells herself at the marriage altar for the sake of patriotism, and Novarro is the Chinese lover who extricates her from her predicament. Miss Hayes is very beautiful in Chinese garb, and enacts a role that rises to the heights of dramatic power with the deft artistry that aised her to stardom as "Madelon Claudet." Novarro, as the young Chinese prince, is convincing and does a number of dramatic scenes with force and power. He also sings a Chinese song delightfully.

Clarence Brown directed the difficult story with the skill that marks his work in "Letty Lynton" and other pictures stand out. Lewis Stone appears as the stern but kindly Chinese father, Warner Oland plays the sinister highbinder Fen Sha with skill, and Ralph Morgan, Louise Closser Hale, H. B. Warner and the rest of the elaborate cast are all ideally cast. The costumes and Chinese settings are spectacular. The great feast, the march of the Chinese Dragon, and other details mark the picture as one of the year's major productions.

The programme includes an all-colour musical revue full of song and dance numbers with the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer dancing girls.

VANG VEENA PADMADEVI in the role of "Karnatki," in Maharashtra Cinetone's Maiden Talkie "Prithviraj Sanyogitha."

"NAGANA" AT EXCELSIOR

The wild animals of the African jungle, roaring, snarling, shrieking and trumpeting, stalk through "Nagana", the thrilling Universal romance which comes to the Excelsior Theatre from to-day.

Never before has this Theatre shown a picture so colorful, so full of actual dangers, so steeped in the atmosphere of its locale and at the same time having so dramatic a love story as its main point of interest. Wild savages and wild beasts form the background of a story heightened by a tempestuous love affair between the doctor in charge of a scientific expedition and a notorious woman of the world.

"Nagana" thrills the audience with the most dangerous animal sequences in the history of the screen, with the ruthless cruelties of African savages, with its highly dramatic story and with the appearance of Tala Birell, Viennese beauty who is one of the screen's most exotic and alluring actresses. Featured with Miss Birell is Melvyn Douglas, former stage favourite. The picture was directed by Ernst L. Frank.

Devika Rani, Heroine Of "Karma," Dazzles London Audiences

A little lady of lovely colouring, dressed in Eastern robes and with a white flower in her hair whose beauty is much too subtle to describe—this is how the London Correspondent of the "Madras Mail" introduces Miss Devika Rani, the heroine of "Karma" an Indian talkie in English which has had a successful reception in London. The film is also produced in the Hindustani language under the title of "Nagan-ki-ragni" (which means the music of the serpent.)

EARLY EDUCATION.

Devika Rani is the daughter of Col. M. N. Chandhari of the Indian Medical Service, and a great-niece of the Poet Rabindranath Tagore. Her father who served in the great war was a former Principal of the Madras Medical College and acted for some time as the Surgeon-General of Madras. Miss Rani travelled extensively in India with her father and subsequently completed her education in London. In addition to Bengali, Hindustani and Tamil, she speaks English, French, German and Italian and is an accomplished singer in all these languages.

Miss Rani, in private life, is the wife of Mr. Himansu Rai, a well-known Indian film director, who also plays the male lead in the film. He is one of the promoters of the Himansu-Rai Indo International Talkies Ltd. (of which Sir Chimanlal Setalvad is the chairman) which has produced the film jointly with the Indian and British Productions Ltd. Dewan Sharar, a well-known novelist of Northern India is another director of the Company.

A CAPABLE ACTRESS.

Petite might be applied to Miss Rani's face, but the term is inadequate, for her face shows breadth of character, intellect and frankness. Subtle emotions play about her features which are well formed but mobile, one expression, in the most illusive and fleeting way, giving way to the other. She seems to have all the desirable attributes that a woman, and certainly an actress, should have—serious purpose, gaiety, and an extraordinary sense of humour. The variety of her comments as she talked, confirmed what her face indicated.

"In 'Karma'," Miss Rani explained, in perfect English in the softest of voices, "I play the part of a Maharani who is depicted as the ruler of an imaginary State named Sitapur. I am supposed to be in love with the young prince of a neighbouring State, and in my zeal for reform I nearly bring destruction upon my royal lover, my people, and myself. In the end I learn that one cannot change the old order in a moment. That is the same in real life too, or as much as I have seen of it." Miss Rani explained that the Hindustani version is entitled "Nagan Ki Ragni."

She also said that although it is her first film, films have always interested her. Then Miss Rani showed the extent of her understanding of art in general by saying:—

INTEREST IN ART.

"Film acting is a new form of art in itself, besides combining so many other arts; and I suppose I may claim that I have always lived in surroundings where art was regarded as a natural part of every-day life. When I was quite young I learned much about religion and philosophy and literature. But my heart was in music and painting and dancing. I studied all three, and was fortunate enough to travel extensively in Europe with my father, and was thus able to learn something about the arts of other countries."

THE PERFECT MEDIUM.

I asked Miss Rani if she liked being a film actress.

"Few people" she answered, "find at once their happiest medium of self-expression. Some are so unfortunate as never to find it. I believe my own—or perhaps I should say that which suits me best—to be the screen, and particularly the talking picture. The film is less restricted than the stage. You can switch from scene to scene in the twinkling of an eye. You can do in five seconds what it would take half a dozen scene-shifters five minutes to do on the stage. And not only that; your range of subjects and the scope for effective production are far greater. You can show as a matter of course on the screen what often has to be implied on the stage.

"Then again there are greater opportunities of subtleties of lighting, music and suggestion. At the famous Ufa studios in Berlin, where I received my screen training, there were plenty of chances to study the technique of production. I toured Switzerland in a programme of singing and dancing— I appeared in Zurich, Basle, Lausanne and Berne and afterwards in Stockholm and in Oslo—everywhere I received much kindness, and encouragement."

GRACE PERSONIFIED.

The film critic of the "News Chronicle" wrote about the star in mail week as follows:

"A new film star of singular beauty and accomplishment will dazzle all London when "Karma" is publicly shown at the Marble Arch Pavilion on Monday.

Her name is Devika Rani. She was educated at Cheltenham, and has acquired her film technique at the Ufa Studios in Berlin. Gifted with handsome features and eloquent eyes and a voice capable of subtle modulations, she totally eclipses the ordinary film star. All her gestures speak, and she is grace personified."

Charlie Chaplin's latest idea for avoiding the necessity of speaking in his next picture is to play the part of a deaf mute. The suggestion is said to have been made to him by Ernst Lubitsch.

A series of twenty-four comedies each one set in a different European city, is to be made by Windsor Films, a new British producconcern, under the direction of Carmine Gallone. The first six pictures in which Arthur Riscoe and Naunton Wayne will play leading parts, will be filmed in London, Paris, Vienna, Venice, Seville and Budapest respectively.

GARY COOPER COW-BOY ROMEO

There is no nonsense about Gary Cooper. He is a clumsy, inarticulate sort of lover who prefers to grab the girl rather than make her fancy speeches. And men like him for it.

They like him, too, for being so unlike a film star. It appears to be proved, without benefit of publicity eyewash, that he understands horses better than women, and prefers the wide open spaces of the West to the stuffy interiors of night clubs.

Gary, as you know, a Paramount star, and his appearance with Joan Crawford, a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer luminary, was achieved only after some strenuous spade-work behind the scenes. Having just reclaimed him from the lions and tigers, the Paramount people were distinctly unwilling to let go of him. It took the combined efforts of M.-G.-M., Howard Hawks, and William Fraulkner (author of "To-day We Live") to detach Gary from the arm of Helen Hayes and place him in those of Joan Crawford.

They managed it, however, and to-day you can see him either in "A Farewell to Arms" with Miss Hayes or "To-day We Live" with Miss Crawford.

CLARK GABLE

Clark Gable, "love parade" and all, has nothing on Gary Cooper when it comes to a fight for the best leading ladies and co-stars. Putting their principal partners in screen romance side by side, we get this interesting table:—

Clark Gable	Gary Cooper
Norma Shearer	Marlene Ditrich
Greta Garbo	Sylvia Sydney
Joan Crawford	Claudette Colbert
Jean Harlow	Tallulah Bankhead
Helen Hayes	Joan Crawford
Carole Lombard

They have both, you observe, figured in passionate close-ups with Helen Hayes and Joan Crawford. In other respects their screen affections have been well distributed. To Gable's Garbo Cooper replies with Dietrich; to his Harlow with Tallulah; to his Shearer with Sylvia Sidney; and to his Lomard with Claudette Colbert. Who wins? Work it out in terms of sex-appeal and the answer should be a simple equation—Gary Cooper equals Clark Gable any day.

CHRIST ON SCREEN

Film Depicts Him As Stranger In Soft Hat Visiting Public House

A film was presented in London in mail week which shows Christ returning to earth, walking into a public house, and going among the people in modern dress.

Ion Swinley, the Shakespearian actor, is the Christ.

It is a film which will create a storm of controversy. It calls for a new faith, a new spirit among the people.

But that is not all.

The only man who has had the courage and foresight to present the film of Christ returned is a Jew. I says a writer in "Sunday Express."

A few months ago a new British film company, David Mackane Productions, made its first film, based on the conviction that religious themes, reverently treated, would be acclaimed by millions of filmgoers.

They called this, their first film, "In Our Time."

SCENE IN PUBLIC HOUSE.

It opens with a scene in a London public house.

A rich man and a poor man are quarrelling bitterly about riches and poverty over a pint of beer.

A Stranger walks in, wearing a soft hat and long, black coat. You do not see His face, but His manners and speech indicate that He is Christ returned to earth.

The Stranger takes up the argument and shows how the quarrel is part of the world crisis—unemployment, hunger, darkness hate—ploughshares rusting in the sheds, lands untilled, factories silent, men and women starved for work, food and inspiration.

Then the Stranger disappears and only a Voice is heard.

The whole of England rises in a panorama across the screen—a land of beauty, richness and achievement—but of little faith.

The Voice cries out to the people: "Believe, believe!"

The cry is taken up by weeping ing women and working men; by merchants, labourers, mothers wives and children, in a great murmur of despair.

They talk of the wailing of the Jews. This is the wailing of the Christians.

When Mr. Phil Hyams, one of the Jewish directors of the Trocadero and other cinemas, heard about the film, he at once offered to show it, and it will be presented at the Regal Cinema, Norwood.

SCREEN TOPICS

VOLTAIRE ON THE SCREEN.

George Arliss, who has already given up screen pictures of famous characters of British and American history in "Disraeli" and "Alexander Hamilton," is now paying France the compliment of bringing "Voltaire" to life in his latest Warner film.

SPY THRILLER.

Gaumont's are hard at work in their Shepherd's Bush studios on what is, probably, the most amazing true-life story even filmed. For the story of "I Was a Spy," in which Herbert Marshall, Madeleine Carroll, and Conrad Veidt are starring, is not the product of a fiction-writing film-scenarist, but the real, faithfully-reproduced tale of Martha McKenna, Sister of Mercy and Spy, one of the strangest and most courageous figure the Great War produced.

A NOVARRO ROMANCE.

All Hollywood is buzzing—and that despite everything else that is happening—about the romance that is budding between Ramon Novarro and Myrna Loy. Ramon, you know, has never been known to give his heart to any lady since he has been in pictures. But this, from all reports, seems to be the real cupid stuff. There will probably be more of it anon. In the meantime, Ramon is now in Europe, and Myrna is using his house while he is away.

SUCH IS FAME!

Anita Page is telling a funny story on the judge she had to appear before in Atascadero recently, when she had to go to court on a speeding charge.

"Your face is familiar. Haven't I met you before?" he asked, simply beaming upon her.

"I don't believe so," said Anita. "I'm an actress. Perhaps you've seen me on the screen."

"What picture have you been in?" the judge asked.

" 'Dancing Daughters,' 'Broadway Melody,' 'War Nurse'....."

"Twenty dollars fine," snapped the judge. "Next case."

TAKE IT EASY, JOAN!

Joan Crawford's performances in her two films since "Grand Hotel" suggest that she has reached something of a crisis in her career.

She cannot continue to play her parts in the key of suppressed or pent-up emotion she has struck. She must either go ahead now and develop into an actress of still greater range and power—or she must slip back.

We believe that she will go ahead. But she must beware of taking either herself or her art too seriously.

They say that she is terribly anxious about her work. She worries about it and loses sleep over it as few Hollywood actresses would dream of doing. And her anxiety seems to be reflected in her recent performances.

They are, I hear, to co-star in "Modesta."

"BILL OF DIVORCEMENT."

Dsfinitely this is one of the pictures of the year. It is human, dramatic, and intensely worth while. The story, written by Miss Clemence Dane on the assumption that "insanity has become a legal ground for divorce," tells of the return of a man from an asylum only to find that his wife has obtained a divorce and is about to remarry. His daughter, too, has become engaged. Her romance is shattered when she realizes that there is hereditary insanity in the family.

It is a strong situation and demands some of the most powerful acting by the members of the cast. John Barrymore, as the man who comes back to sanity, is magnificent. Every line of his figure expresses his emotions and his suffering. Even his back is eloquent.

But the chief honours must go to Katharine Hepburn, who stepped straight into this leading part for her first screen effort.

odfir"fi shrdl cmfw hrdlmmm

Matheson Lang is to return to the screen in "Channel Crossing," a sister picture to "Rome Express," to be directed by Milton Rosmer for Gaumont-British.

"TYPE APPEAL" NOW.

McClelland Barclay, the famous artist, who has been visiting Hollywood, has, I see, created some surprise by choosing Claudette Colbert as "the most beautiful woman in films."

Mr. Barclay essays to upset some of the accepted notions concerning screen beauty. It is foolish, he declares, to rate screen sirens according to their sex appeal.

He lists them, instead, on the basis of their "type appeal," pointing out that different types appeal to different audiences.

Kay Francis, you will not be surprised to hear, appeals to the society man. Joan Crawford is the favourite of college youth.

Elissa Landi is especially popular with the student-scientist.

Claudette Colbert, he insists, appeals to every type of picturegoer.

NEW TALKIE TEAMS.

Filmland's new craze for building up talkie teams goes on. The latest is Katharine Hepburn and Douglas Fairbanks, jun., who are cast together in "Morning Glory."

After that Miss Hepburn is to be pair again, as I predicted a few weeks ago, with John Barrymore. G.B. Stern's new novel "Long Last Father" has been chosen as the vehicle, and as the title suggests, it will carry on the father-and-daughter relationship between the stars established in "A Bill of Divorcement."

The story appeared so suitable for the talents of the "team" that it was brought after a perusal of the galley proofs.

The Radio people are also experimenting again with Dolores Del Rio and Joel McCrea, who appeared as lovers in "Bird of Paradise."

GARY COOPER.

There is no nonsense about this ex-cowboy with sex-appeal. He is a clumsy, inarticulate sort of lover who prefers to grab the girl rather than make her fancy speeches.

WHAT'S ON AT THE CINEMAS

"HAPPY EVER AFTER" AT EMPIRE

"Happy Ever After," the first picture to be produced under Ufa-Gaumont-British arrangement, will be shown at the Empire Theatre from to-day. It is an Erich Pommer production, directed by Paul Martin, and has a strong British cast, which includes Lilian Harvey, Jack Hulbert, Cicely Courtneidge, Sonnie Hale, Edward Chapman, Percy Parsons, Clifford Heatherley, Kathleen Harrison and Charles Redgie.

Throughout the unusual story is told in happy vein. Two window-cleaners fall in love with a girl whom they have befriends. The girl, however, does not think of marriage; her mind is set upon going to Hollywood and becoming a twinkling star in that firmament. Fate, however, has another mission in store for her, and the picture careers along merrily with the characters getting a good deal o fun out of life, thereby providing sound laughable entertainment. "Happy Ever After" is a "different" kind of story, treated with a light touch which emphasises the fantasy of the subject, and brings to the screen a picture as refreshing as it is bright. Two particularly "catchy" numbers add to its attractiveness.

6TH WEEK OF "SINHGAD" AT MAJESTIC

The superb historical talkie film, "Sinhgad," produced by the Prabhat Cinetone, is now entering its 6th week at the Majestic Cinema. This picture has skillfully brought to life an historical novel written by the late Mr. Haribhau Apte. This novel is so popular in Marathi that it has gone upto now through twelve editions and it is therefore no wander that its screen adaptation should prove such a triumph.

"Sinhgad" is a high-powered drama that prances along with a swing, packed with action and thrilling incidents. The story depicts in golden colours the glory of the martyrdom of Tanaji, the brave lieutenant of Shivaji the Great. Through pure love for his motherland Tanaji dashes to the field of battle and lays down his life, thus making it easy for his men to capture the fort of Kondana. Shivaji to commemorate his lieutenant's martyrdom, names the fort of Kondana as "Sinhgad," meaning the fort (gadh) captured by the lion-hearted Tanaji (Sinh).

The picture is spectacular, acting fine, and setting quite striking. It is a most delightful entertainment that the Majestic Cinema has given us.

"SAUBHAGYA SUNDERI" AT IMPERIAL

The Imperial Cinema is showing this week a talkie of unusual interest. The talented artiste, Miss Sulochana, appears in a social talkie for the first time and plays the role of the heroine, Sunderi, an educated girl who is driven from her parental roof to the house of her husband, who is a promising medical student. There her path is not smooth, for Vijaya her husband's elder brother's wife puts hard obstacles in her way and circumstances so combine against her that she is driven away by her husband in a fit of rage. Some "mawalis" assault her on the way and she is taken by them to the house of a cantatrice from where she is rescued by the manager of a theatrical company.

She wins her way to fame as an actress but attracts the unpleasant attentions of a Jagirdhar who plots to abduct her. In the struggle that ensues she is saved by Vihari, her husband through mere chance. Vijaya's evil deeds are brought to light and Sundri's innocence is proved.

With Sulochana in the leading role and Zilloo, Jamshedji, D Billimoria, Gulam Mohamed, Hadi and Chanda in the supporting cast, the drama must prove very interesting. The beautiful stage scenes, choice music, appropriate settings together with the powerful cast, render the film one of outstanding merit.

"BLUE ANGEL"

Bombay will have a chance to see and judge Emil Jannings and Marlene Dietrich in their first Talkie "The Blue Angel." This picture was awarded the first place in the world of talkies, and ran for eleven months in London alone and the press reports from all countries practically go into ecstacies over it. Bombay with her unerring taste will not doubt give a fitting welcome to the great picture.

"AS YOU DESIRE ME" AT CARLTON

Never before has Greta Garbo achieved so emotional and convincing a performance as in "As You Desire Me," her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film, which is at the Carlton Theatre this week. The reason for this is perhaps twofold: the obvious appreciation of the glamorous star for her unusual role, and the solid material provided by playwright Luigi Pirandelle in his brilliant stage play from which the screen features was deftly adapted.

Zara, exotic Budapest cafe entertainer, is a victim of the lust of Salter, a depraved novelist. When his tyrannical abuse becomes too great, Zara listens to the pleading of Tony, a painter, who believes her to be Maria, the missing wife of Count Bruno.

Zara goes to the estate of Count Bruno, who accepts her as his wife. Guilty of the fraud, however, Zara is unwilling completely to take the place of his Maria. There are many moments of supreme joy, however, that make her love him and she convinces herself that, no matter how base her deceit, it is atoned by the happiness she has brought to Bruno.

Salter, enraged, hunts up Maria's real sister, who is suspicious of the masquerade and who is anxious to share in the estate which would be disposed of if the real Maria's death could be proved. Together they confront Zara and Bruno and make a dramatic scene, triumphant in conclusive proof of Zara's duplicity. Fighting with her back to the wall, Zara succeeds in establishing through the demented woman that she is not Maria, but Lucia, one of the gardener's daughters, also attacked in the invasion in which Maria was killed.

13TH WEEK OF "PURAN-BHAKTA"

The West-End Cinema at Lamington Road, are continuing for the 13th week New Theatres' musical talkie "Puran Bhakta," which has been transferred to this theatre since last week.

BREEZY MUSICAL COMEDY AT ROXY

"The Midshipmaid," the delightful musical comedy that has been drawing good houses at the Roxy since its release on last Wednesday will be continued for a few days more.

Besides some very tuneful music, the film has an entertaining story of a love romance in mid-ocean. The central character is Celia, daughter of a pompous and conceited businessman, who visits the naval fleet at Malta in the company of her father. Aboard a ship, she forms an attachment for Commander Ffosberry whose prejudice against women is so strong that he would not allow them on his ship. However, he is "captured" by the charming Celia and their romance developes during the rehearsal of a dramatic show on board. The drama is enacted by a capable cast including the charming actress Jessie Matthews, Claude Allister, Fred Kerr and Basil Sydney.

"GOLDEN DWARKA"

The popular Marathi dramatic company, known as the Anand Sangit Mandali, composed of handsome boys and beautiful girls has recently opened its season at the Bombay Theatre with its new Pauranic drama "Sonyachi Dwarka" or the "Golden Capital of Lord Krishna."

This drama is based on the popular story of Shri Sudamdev who is hailed by Hindus as the greatest devotee of Shri Krishna. Krishna being convinced of Sudama's self-less devotion to Himself, rewards him with the gift of a golden city. The drama vividly portrays before the public the virtue of devotion to God. The Anand Sangit Mandali has shown commendable enterprise in introducing on the Marathi stage a big cast of pretty girls who exquisitely play the female parts. The company performs this play at the Bombay Theatre on every Saturday and Sunday.

Clara Bow gained fifteen pounds on that European jaunt with Rex Bell and has gone up to her branch to get them off before she starts another picture. On her way back to California, she went to the old home town, Brooklyn, and picked up two young cousins and an uncle and brought them back with her.

A scene from "If I Had A Million," an all star cast Paramount picture, commencing at the Pathe to-night.

MARIE DRESSLER ABOUT TO LEAVE FILMS

At the height of her fame, Marie Dressler, the most popular film star, in the United States, is retiring.

American box offices to-day show her to be a bigger draw than Greta Garbo.

She has told several of her intimate friends in Hollywood that her present film "Tugboat Annie," in which she is at work with Wallace Beery, will be her last, owing to the state of her health.

Before she fully recovered from an operation last month, she played in the film "Dinner at Eight," just completed, with the Barrymore brothers, Clark Gable, Jean Harlow and Lee Tracy.

Marie Dressler is 64, and has been acting for 47 years. Her father was German and she was born in Canada. From the music-halls she drifted to the early silent pictures.

After some years failure descended on her. A London stage season was disastrous, and for years she struggled precariously in the United States on tour or in occasional films.

DRAMATIC "COME-BACK"

Her dramatic "come-back" is one of filmland's real romances.

At 57, she called herself "finished." Then came talkies, and with "Anna Christie," her genius for pathos as well as robust comedy, brought her contracts, world fame, and a salary beyond her former dreams.

"Min and Bill and "Emma" revealed this massive, tough comedienne with gargoyle features as a tender, gentle actress of great power.

She is one of the stalwarts of American Actors' Equity, founding the chorus-girls' branch in 1919. I met her on her last visit to London, and found her a delightful woman, of immense vitality and humour with an incurably optimistic outlook on life.

"I HAVE NOT LOVED"

That's Why She Has Not Married, Says Anna May Wong

The Southampton correspondent of "News Chronicle" writing in mail week says:—

Anna May Wong, the Chinese film star, told me to-day when she arrived here from New York why she has never married.

I asked her the reasons as we stood on the deck of the tender Greetings in Southampton Water.

She replied in her quiet voice: "For the simple reason that I have not loved.

"I have seen so many hopeless marriages based on a false conception of love," Miss Wong went on. "Marriage means self-sacrifice and denial. Perhaps I have been selfish, thinking only of a screen career. Perhaps I have remembered that happiness in marriage is not compatible with the demands of a film star's contract—demands that may part a wife from her husband for long periods.

"MARRIAGE IS SACRED."

"So far, I have chosen my career, believing that in refusing to admit the impossible and not trying to blend the two I have done wisely. Marriage is sacred, no matter what the smart young people may claim. I won't desecrate my belief."

Miss Wong is on a vacation, and will visit Ireland and Scotland, after a month in London.

She has never been to China—she was born in Los Angeles, but she hopes to go there next year.

"THE KID FROM SPAIN"

For a long time, Bombay filmgoers have not seen any of the new productions of the United Artists. Now that their Indian head-office has been moved from Calcutta to Bombay, their business has been reorganised by the Manager, Mr. O'Connor, on his return to India after his rush visit to London. Arrangements have now been made to release the latest pictures of the United Artists at the Wellington Cinema, Dhobi Talao, which is reverting to English pictures from 10th instant. The first of these will be "A Kid from Spain."

Eddie Cantor who has delighted Bombay audiences by his comic acting and singing in "Whoopee" and "Palmy Days" appears in a novel type of role as a naughty schoolboy smuggling himself into Mexico in the guise of a famous bull-fighter, who is faced with a situation that requires him to enter the arena to justify his claims. He enlivens his art, as usual, with his funny gags and contributes some good singing.

SPECTACULAR SCENES.

Samuel Goldwyn has combined all available resources to bring out a production as unique in its spectacular effects as it is for entertainment value. He has utilised the story to introduce one of the most beautiful and, at the same time, the most authentic bull-fight scenes ever brought to the screen. Sidney Franklin, the world's greatest bull-fighter, makes his first screen appearance in the thrilling combat with an infuriated animal. A colourful back-ground of tuneful music and exquisite dances is provided by a bevy of 76 Hollywood beauties. Other principals in the cast are Lyda Roberti, Ruth Hall and John Miljan.

N. Y. NEED FURTHER STIMULATING EFFECT

Trade Buying Continues

WEATHER REPORTS MORE FAVOURABLE

Bombay, June 2.

Although realising operations caused the loss of a few points of the recent advance in cotton prices later, developments have effected a fresh upturn which has brouvht the market back to the high points reached on the recent advance. The capacity of the market to absorb considerable profit taking as well as a good deal of hedge selling has established the belief that cotton has commenced on a firm upward movement due to the inflationary measures adopted or proposed by the Government. The prospect of early international agreements as a result of the Conferences now in progress and the expectation for the abandonment of a part of the planted area has further stressed the upward trend. The assurance that the British Government will cooperate with America in raising commodity prices and in maintaining the high level is another encouraging factor that has influenced the market at present. The general result of these favourable factors has been a decided betterment in trade demand in all commodities.

A weak tone prevailed in the American cotton markets during the early part of the session yesterday which has been caused by the poor Livedpool advices. Business for July contract started at 9.12 eight points down from the previous closing level. Following the easy opening the market was encountered with scattered liquidating operations and a further decline of about 7 points could not be averted. July contract is reported to have touched 9.95—15 the lowest rate for the day. The decline, however was checked at this stage and market began firming up on impdoved buying by Speculators and Wall Street. Rumours regarding the early publication of the acreage control and the statement that the British Government will cooperate with America in her attempts to raise commodity prices and in maintaining the high level have considerably stimlated the trade demand in all commodities. Now Orleans market also effected a good amount of fresh purchases which was an additional favourable element. On the support of the above, the market made a steady and uninterrupted advance July contract touching 9.29 plus 09 the highest level for the day. However, before close prices eased of once again on heavy realising operations and finally July contract was quoted at 9.18—02. The spot market also declined by 10 points and finished at 9.25—10

Receipts at all U S Ports amounted to 8,000 bales and Exports 29,000 bales.

NEW ORLEANS.

Market ruled easy. July and October contracts finished at 9.14—03 and 9.36—04

LIVERPOOL COTTON

The Liverpool cotton market opened at a drop of 6 points July contract standing at 6.06—06. Market was faced with selling on a limited scale at the early stage. Later this was readily absorbed by trade and local houses buying. Prices maintained a steady tone boldly resisting the weakening factors. Before close some liquidating operations were also executed and prices again lost another point. Thereafter market remained quiet and nothing of importance took place. In the absence of any fresh support the earlier loss could not be made up and finally market closed at a loss of seven points July contract being quoted at 6.05—07. The spot stood at 6.28—17

EAST INDIAN.

Market appeared more or less weak July and October contracts closing at 5.43—07 and 5.48—07.

EGYPTIAN

The market experienced a loss of about six points Sakel and Upper July having been closed at 8.14—02 and 7.22—06.

ALEXANDRIAN.

Prices declined by 6 to 14 points in the Alexandrian market Sakel July and Upper June finishing at 15.32—06 and 13.10—14

Despite heavy realising following more favourable crop conditions the market continued steady in sympathy with Wall Street and Wheat.

According to the Ssecretary of Agriculture the American Government's announcement on the acreage reduction programme and appropriation of 150 million dollars is expected to be announced very shortly.

Trade demand is expanding in all commodities following Mr. Neville Chamberlain's statement yesterday that the Br. Government will co-operate with America not only in raising commodity prices but to maintain them at higher level.

The World Economic Conference meets on June 12th and the preliminary understanding over several impending problems particularly between Britain and America will be Officially announced pending a final decision at the Conference as to details, this is likely to cause a wave of optimism and further confidence to trade in general.

We continue to advise purchases around present levels increasing same on any setbacks as our Liverpool friends still continue very bullish. (Messrs. Thos. Smith and Co.)

Messrs. Sarupchand Prithiraj have received the following cables from their Foreign Friends under Yesterday's date:—

Liverpool, Profit taking with decline catching stop-losses; market misses short interest; absence fresh buying without some fresh stimulus American immediate future; market not encouraging.

Liverpool. Understand farmers generally agreeable lease plan provided compensation adequate. Think ten dollars acre which is figure under consideration will be acceptable.

New York. Heavy liquidation; market acting well but show need further stimulating effect from Washington.

New York. Profit taking absorbed trade interests and speculative buying orders, influenced by stock market strength; cloth market quieter; crop conditions have improved owing to favourable weather; we look for a considerable reaction

Messrs. Bruel and Co., have received the following cable on June 1st from their friends. Messrs. Reynolds and Gibson, Liverpool:—"Though still bullish, we think, it safe to realise portion holdings and remainder gradually on any further rises."

Bombay Cotton

A Two Sided Market

Bombay, June 2.

The tone in the Bombay Cotton Market was decidedly better. Those who sold short yesterday in anticipation of a reaction in New York Cotton Prices, came in the market to cover their commitments in abundance this morning leading to a sharp rise after the opening. Broach July Vayda opened at Rs. 218 8 and soon began to rise and was quoted at Rs. 220 8 at noon. The undertone is firm. Bazar operators were buyers in the early session.

The higher level however soon attracted numerous sellers, those who believed in a reaction being conspicuous amongst them. As the prices declined, quite a different phase whas witnessed in the market as for sometime buyers held themselves aloof. When the Broach rate for July/Aug. touched Rs. 217 8, the buyers again came on the scene and thereafter the rate fluctuated within a narrow range. Against an expected opening of 4 points higher, the Liverpool market today opened for July at 2 points higher but later was quoted at 5 points up. The Broach July rate finally closed at Rs. 218 4, the closing rates at 5-30 p.m. being as follows:—

Steady Tone

Bombay, June 2.

The seeds and grains also displayed a steadier tone. Owing to firmness in cotton prices, prices improved a little after the opening. Linseed September opened at Rs. 6/10/0 and advanced to Rs. 6/16/6 and wheat September was steady around Rs. 5/0/9.

The rates for Linseed declined afterwards due to some liberal selling on the part of Mandvi-operators. The Septmber rate for wheat improved later to Rs. 5-1-3 but again weakened before close due to liquidation. The closing rates at 6 p.m. were quoted as follows:—

A NEW MEDICAL IMPROVEMENT

PROLONGATION OF HEALTHY AND ACTIVE LIFE TREATMENT OF ALL AILMENTS.

Men of science whose names are world renowned, have proved beyond doubt that the weakening of the human organism, uric acid poisoning innumerable ailments, precocious senile decay and death itself are caused by feeble vital glands unable to carry out their essential functions properly. They no longer supply the constitution with the necessary active life-giving ferments. These savants have shown that lost physical health and virility can be rendered to impoverished organisms by means of the introductions into the body of extracts of vital glands such as KALEFLUID.

KALEFLUID rejuvenates and strengthens every element of the human body; it replaces lost vigour and brings back health, speeds up the nutritive forces, dissolves and eliminates uric acid and its salts and poisons. After a course of the KALEFLUID treatment you will find pains and maladies disappearing as well as your nervous depression. You will become cheerful and alert and you will enjoy a healthy life full of youth.

KALEFLUID has earned five Grands Prix and five Grandes Medailles d'Or in Paris, London, Brussels, Rome and Florence.

KALEFLUID is on sale in Paris at the LABORATOIRE DU KALEFLUID 49, Rue Balagny, PARIS and in BOMBAY, from KEMP and Co. Ltd., Charni Road Queen's Street.

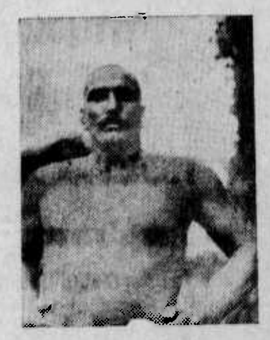
GIANTS FROM NORTH TO WRESTLE IN BOMBAY

Record Crowd Expected At Cooperage On Sunday If Weather Permits

Great interest is being taken in the wrestling contest between Ganda Jholia and Isher Singh on Sunday June 4 at the Cooperage. The former has been hailed as "the coming world champion", and a few details of his career will be welcomed by wrestling 'fans' on this side.

Ganda is 6 feet in height and weighs 16 stone 12 lbs. He began his career as the pupil of the world famous wrestler Kikar Singh styled the 'Indian Giant.'

In 1932, at Delhi, Ganda threw out an open challenge to wrestlers in northern India, who had come to take part in the tournament being held there. But, they gave him a wide berth.



GANDA JOHLIA (coming World Champion).

Ganda has also visited the Malaya States, where he defeated some of their best wrestlers. His progress has been so rapid, that he has been advised to go to England, where some big contests are being arranged for him by Mr. W. M. Bankier, Secretary of the Wrestling Association in London.

A great future is prophesied for Ganda Jholia, by good Judges of wrestling in this country.

LION OF THE PUNJAB.

Ishar Singh described as the "Lion of the Punjab", weighs 17 stones 8 lbs., and is 6 feet 2½ inches in height.

This Sikh Champion has vanquished many notable opponents in the Punjab, and hopes to defeat Ganda on Sunday.

Ishar Singh started his wrestling career in 1923, and in the short period of five years he proved to be one of the best wrestlers in India. He has thrice defeated the famous Daula (a wrestler of international repute).

His contests with Saka Natha of Patiala and Bawa Saparia brought him further fame, as he defeated each of them in less than five minutes.

Last year he met Imam Bakash "the World Champion" at Karachi, and after a keen struggle for about 15 minutes, the match ended in a draw.

ISHER SINGH (Lion of the Punjab).

He is about 28 years old and is a very clean and speedy fighter.

Ishar's style makes instant appeal, and he is a great favourite in Punjab.

RECORD CROWD EXPECTED

In addition to the main contest, several minor bouts will be staged. Bombay has the opportunity of witnessing wrestling of the highest class, and those who visit the Cooperage on Sunday, will get full value for their money. A record crowd is expected if the weather is on its best behaviour.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST MUSLIM

Alleged Assault On Former Master

After a full five weeks enquiry the Nagpada police have been successful in tracing the murderer of the Moghul who was stabbed to death on April 26, on Grant Road in front of Chota Kabrasthan. The police claim that they have been able to make out a good case against Hashamali Barkatali the suspect.

It will be remembered that on the night of April 26 at 11 p.m. Hajijawah Haji Hussein, Manager of Fathewat Bakery on Grant Road was cycling from Bakery No. 2 situated at Play House to Bakery No 1 with Rs. 135 in cash, tied in a handkerchief and Rs. 100 in notes kept inside the pocket. Just when he was in front of the Bakery, the suspect is alleged to have accosted the Manager and on his getting down from the cycle, the suspect stabbed him with a knife and taking the money ran away into Chota Kabrasthan. The Manager tried to raise an alarm but as he felt giddy he fell down and a police contable removed him to the J. J. Hospital where he made a statement to the police.

VICTIM'S STATEMENT

In the statement the Manager stated that the suspect was in his employ previously and just a few days before the assault he was dismissed by him, and hence he had been bearing a grudge against him. Haji Hussien died in the Hospital later. After enquiries the police traced the suspect, who had absconded to a place in Allahabad District where he was arrested on May 8 and brought down to Bombay.

At the inquest held on Friday morning the Coroner's jury returned a verdict of death due to "stab wound near chest involving the liver." The Jury added "there is reason to believe that the suspect inflicted the wound with homicidal intent. He has rendered himself liable to be prosecuted for murder."

FATAL FALL FROM MOVING TRAIN

"Death due to shock and multiple injuries which was sustained from an accidental fall from a moving electric train" was the verdict returned by the Coroner's Jury on Friday at the inques held over the body of one Baram Nathu, aged 25.

From the evidence it transpires that Nathu, a milkman, living at Umerkhadi boarded a local electric train at 11 a.m. on Thursday to go to Sewri. Near Reay Road Station, he slipped and fell down from the moving train. He was immediately removed to the J. J. Hospital where he died later.

ACTIVE CHILDREN must be fully nourished

to keep strong and healthy

CONSTANTLY on the go, from the moment they get up until the time when they are tucked into bed ... little brains and bodies working fulltime. No wonder doctors so emphatically urge the necessity of a balanced diet for growing children—one that will supply them with abundant energy.

Wise mothers supplement their children's meals with Horlick's Malted Milk. They know that its body-building nourishment, derived from fresh cows' milk and the nutritive extracts of the choicest wheat and malted barley, provides the essential food elements young people need.

Children who take Horlick's regularly do not easily get over-tired, nor do they run underweight risks. For over 50 years doctors have prescribed Horlick's because of its body-building qualities.

Horlick's, prepared with the special Mixer, is extra creamy. Send Annas 14 in stamps to P. O. Box 2229, Calcutta, for one if you cannot obtain it from your local Store.

GANDHI PANCHAMI AT LUCKNOW

New Schools For Harijan Children Opened

(From our own Correspondent.)

CAWNPORE, May 29.

The Servants of the Untouchables Society organised the Gandhi Panchmi celebrations on a very grand scale. In the morning, congragational prayers were held at Sarsaiya Ghat, Cawnpore. A large number of ladies and gentleman had assembled, including Harijans. No objection was raised by the Pandas on Harijans taking bath at the same Ghat with the caste Hindus.

The proceedings began with the recitation of some slokas from the Gita by Hakim Kanahaiya Lal. It was followed bf Mhhatmaji's beloved songs:—Vaishnava Jana etc. A special prayer composed by Pt. Ramakant Ji was much appreciated by the audience.

The next item was the opening of schools for Harijan children. Five boys' and two girls' schools were opened. The opening ceremonies of two of them were performed by B. Brijendra Swarup, of the Cawnpore Municipal Board. Addressing the Harijan, he said that he had not come to them as the Chairman of the Municipal Board, but as their own brother.

The other schools were opened by Lala Chhangamal, Mrs. Arora and Mrs. Swaroopwati Rohatgi. Pandit Ram Bharose Tiwari and Munshi Ram Narain Singh worked very enthusiastically.

MAMMOTH PROCESSION.

In the evening, a large mammoth procession was taken out from the office of the Servants of the Untouchables Society. In the vanguard were the prominent Congress Leaders of the city and a few non-Congress citizens. A very large number of Harijans participated.

Mrs. Taravati Agrawal the enthusiastic young wife of the Secretary had brought about a hundred sweeper women after house to house convassing. The whole city was tastefully decorated and the principal markets were illuminated just like the Diwali Day. The processionists were served with Sharbat and cold water at a dozen places. The Harijans were given sweets after the dispersal of the procession. The news of Mahatma Gandhi's fast being terminated was broadcast by the special supplements of the local Hindi Dailies which were distributed free.

TELANG NORMAL SCHOOL

Termination Of Vacation Course

A small but pleasing function was held on the premises of the Maratha High School on 1st June on the termination of the Vacation Course of the Telang (Memorial) Normal School under the presidency of Mr. Deshpande, the Head Master of the Maratha High School. The occasion was made graceful and interesting by Mr. Phadnis ,the Principal and Director of the Normal School by invitinv a recently America-returned lady, Miss Kapila Khandwala who made a brilliant speech elaborating at some length the position of the teacher's profession and the circumstances under which a teacher can be professionalised in America.

After the speech Mr. Phadnis, thanked the lady for her brilliant address and requested her to distribute the certificates

At the end Mr. C. M. Desai said that after hearing Miss Khandwala, he was more than convinced about the maxim preached by the Late Lok. Tilak with great insight and fore-thought, that "political reforms should precede other reforms "because in a matter like education we can see how very far far behind we are other countries.

He then thanked Prof. Phadnis for great abilities and resourceful knowledge of the subject and wished him a long life and prosperity on behalf of those present.

The Rumanian Petroleum Association has renounced the production restriction agreement reached at Paris in January, but expressed the desire to enter into a new agreement as soon as American production is reduced to 2,000,000 barrels daily.

ACCIDENTAL FALL FROM BALCONY

Victim Succumbs To Injuries In Hospital

While shouting out orders on Thursday morning to the labourers from the balcony of the first floor of a building near Samuel Street, one Solomon Sampson, Supervisor in charge of the repairs of that building accidentally slipped and fell down. He received multiple injuries and was removed in an unconscious state to the J. J. Hospital where he succumbed to his injuries later.

It appears that the balcony was newly built and had no railings. The supervisor who was excited shouting to the labourers was unable to balance himself when he slipped, thereby falling down on the road side.

At the inquest held to-day the Coroner's Jury returned a verdict of death due to "fracture of base of skull."

WOMEN HEALTH VOLUNTEERS

The following students who were trained by Dr. S. W. Patil, and presented for "The Health Volunteers' Class Examination" by the Committee of the Bombay Presidency Baby and Health Week Association, Bombay Branch were examined by Dr. H. D. THE BOMBAY CHRONICLE

SATURDAY, JUNE 3, 1933

A TRAVESTY OF JUSTICE

The provisions of the Ordinance Act, normally interpreted, are wide enough in all conscience. Yet some magistrates stretch and strain them to cover cases which otherwise could not possibly come within their purview. A deplorable example is provided by the incarceration of the President and other members of the Sangamner Municipality, who voted for the hoisting of a new National Flag in place of an old one on the Corporation Offices. The old flag was hoisted in 1930 and for over two years it flew over the Municipal Building without any protest from the Government authorities. When therefore, the proposal came up to renew it, the Municipal Councillors naturally believed that, what was permitted till then would continue to be permitted and that a new flag would not convert an innocent act into a crime.

ONE MORE SCANDAL.

But they had not reckoned with the traps that lurked behind the Ordinance Act or those that overzealous and suspicious officials might lay for them. As soon as the Councillors had voted for the proposal they were arrested and prosecuted under the now notorious Section 17-1 of the Act for assisting an unlawful association. And they have since been sentenced each to three months' rigorous imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 100 or, in default, six weeks' further imprisonment. The Magistrate and the prosecuting authorities perhaps believe that the law has been duly vindicated. But dispassionate critics will regard the case as one more legal scandal of the kind to which we are becoming painfully accustomed.

HIGH COURT RULINGS.

All-comprehensive as the Section is,one cannot imagine how this case could be brought under it. High Courts have held that flying the National Flag is not by itself an offence. Indeed, the Flag is not the flag of the Congress only. It has been and is used by millions of people who are not Congressmen. And no specific ban has, so far, been placed on the Flag. Its use is no more an offence than is the wearing of the Gandhi cap. In a recent case, the Bombay High Court held not only that flying the National Flag is not by itself an offence, but also that, the accused cannot be convicted unless he is proved to have deliberately acted on behalf of or for the benefit of a body declared unlawful. The latter view was also emphasised by the Allahabad High Court in the recent Purshottamdas Tandon Case.

MUST NOT REST THERE.

The facts of the Sangamner case, as reported, do not show that the Municipal Councillors were in any way conspiring with or to assist any unlawful body. If flying the flag itself was regarded as amounting to helping the activities of an unlawful body, why was not the Municipality prosecuted for hoisting the old flag? And, even if the hoisting of the flag would, in itself, be held to be an offence, we should strongly doubt the legality of prosecuting only those persons who voted for the resolution in question, when the Municipality, as a body, is responsible for its majority decision.

This appears to be a sheer travesty of justice, and it should not be allowed to rest there. It is to be hoped that there will be an appeal to the High Court. In the meanwhile, Government might seriously consider whether by permitting the prosecution of persons for only recommending the hoisting of the National Flag without previously warning them against such an attempt they are not bringing into contempt the very law, which they seek to vindicate.

No Need For Anxiety

A new organisation has been formed in Great Britain for defending British financial rights in India, which the organisers believe will be jeopardised under the White Paper constitution. All kinds of discredited people, including retired satraps, soldiers, money lenders, and people who have figured notoriously in divorce courts have banded themselves together to hold fast by what Britain possesses in India at the present time. They are dishonestly giving the impression to the British people that the White Paper constitution is meant to surrender to Indians all that Britishers now enjoy in this country by reason of their belonging to the ruling race; in short India will go to rack and ruin if they are prevented from exploiting her with complete licence and statutory privilege. For this purpose they have issued an official statement which is full of disgraceful misrepresentations and untruths and hypocritical concern for the welfare of Indians.

WHAT THEY MEAN

If their only object were to compel the British Cabinet to withdraw their White Paper policy, no patriotic Indian would care a brass farthing as to what the League does or does not. There is not a single recognised political association in India which would not be glad to see the White Paper in the waste paper basket, for whatever may be the differences of opinion among Indians, they are all agreed that they should not allow this political hoax to be perpetrated on this country.

But when the "Defence League" prates about the welfare of 300 million Indians and their safety and advancement being in danger if the administration is handed over to Indians with unheard of safeguards, it only means that what they are thinking of is the financial interests of the British merchants and bondholders. We are told moreover that "the transference of the Judiciary and Police is very dangerous to all concerned." We have only to look to the present political condition of India and the over-flowing jails to be convinced that this statement has not even the remotest connection with truth.

MENDACIOUS PROPAGANDA.

It is significant that that "enfant terrible" Mr. Randolph, Churchill has refused the crown of his boyish ambition offered to him by the Altrincham Tories, as there is no substantial difference of opinion between him and Sir Edward Grigg, who as governor of Kenya was notorious for his anti-native and Indian policy. The statement of the League concludes with an assurance that it is determined to bring all facts to the notice of the British public! We hope it keeps its word and will not content itself with publishing the kind of flatulent and mendacious propaganda with which its preliminary balloon has been expanded.

In the face of this we are amused to note the grave concern shown by the local Anglo-Indian paper for the safety of the White Paper and its tearful appeal to all Indians to band themselves together and fight for that policy, by helping the good work already begun by the National Government. It regrets that even Indian Liberals have refused to touch the White Paper and remarks that whatever may be the past "the need of the hour is a united India, working for the broad principles of the White Paper."

POLITICAL ADVENTURERS.

It may go on appealing to the Liberals for all time. There is no danger just now of the Liberals going back on their publicly made declarations, for like all other Indians they are not much concerned about what happens to the White Paper; and we hope they will continue to stand by their resolutions and refuse to be bullied into surrendering their self-respect at the bidding of a Tory Secretary of State and a gang of commercial toughs and political adventurers.

Curiously, the "Times of India" is greatly concerned that the Lancashire manufacturers should insist on putting forward their claims for special treatment in this country, and warns British politicians of the danger of making India a party question. There is nothing strange in Lancashire insisting on special treatment for her interests in India, since she has been enjoying a privileged position for so many decades. For an Anglo-Indian journal to tell us now that Lancashire is under a delusion in asking that "India must be kept as a field of exploitation" for her, is the height of insincerity and political chicanery.

NO DANGER FOR THEM.

What are all these safeguards for? Everybody knows that they are intended to safeguard the interests of British bankers and 'rentiers' who have invested their capital in India. There is not the least danger of India ever being a party question in Britain, in the genuine sense for all the political parties are agreed that India must be kept safe for the British manufacturer and capitalist. If what has happened in the past is a safe index to the future, Britons need not be uneasy on this point.

Unity First

Gandhiji is now out of jail. How long he will remain outside jail none can say. He will take considerable time to be restored to health and, if after that, he makes one supreme effort for inter-communal unity and if, fortunately for the country, he meets with success he will be making the path to the political and economic freedom of India smooth and easy—the freedom for which he has worked and suffered so much and the attainment of which is the one aim of his life.—"Mussalman."

He Knows

Pandit Malaviya threw out a challenge that he might be prosecuted for his statement. A member of Parliament asked that that should be done. Sir Samuel Hoare refused to take that course, saying that the men hurt might as well file a prosecution against the sergeants. In the first place, Government will not sanction the prosecution; and, in the second place, Sir Samuel knows that Congressmen will not file them, it being against their creed.—"Sind Observer."

Whitewash

Instead of impartially enquiring into the allegations made by Pandit Malaviya about the savage treatment of Congressmen in April last, the Government have issued a quasi-political manifesto embodying the views of the Police Commissioner and his assistants at Calcutta, upon their own questioned conduct. At the most, it amounts to a statement on behalf of the defence, which requires investigation side by side, with the charges made, but the Government adopt the monstrous course of converting the defence-statement into a solemn judicial verdict. After guiltily meandering through a number of transparent excuses, the Bengal Government's 'communique' roundly remarks at the end that they "accept the report of the Commissioner of Police as correct."—"Hindustan Times."

Conciliate Congress

The Congress is the biggest, most representative and most influential political body in the land. And no constitution without its blessing and co-operation will be workable to that extent that is possible with Congress co-operation. The offer of Gandhiji promises that co-operation. It is not a valueless offer as Anglo-Indians think. On the other hand, it is of the greatest value, whether the Government is able to win the Congress to its side or not. The interests of India and the Empire demand that the Government and the Congress should join hands for the peace and progress of humanity. Both have in Gandhiji a great leader, who is ready to help and whose voice will have the greatest appeal to the Indian people. Wisdom requires that Lord Willingdon should meet Gandhiji half-way and cement a permanent link of concord between the two great countries, India and England.—"New Orissa."

LINGAYAT YOUTH AND UNIFICATION

They Must Come Out Of The Rut And Lead

(BY VISHWAMITRA.)

A. S. Kambli, whose letter appeared in "The Chronicle" a few days ago, seems to be a "Surface Bahadur." If he had taken the trouble to dive a little deeper he would not have found me anti-Lingayat.

There is nothing in my article to warrant your correspondent's remark that I am an anti-Lingayat. He says that I cannot bear the sight of a single Lingayat entering a Government service.

I think he is generous enough to admit that I am in favour of Karnatak Unification. If this crying need of Karnatak were to be satisfied to-day, the Lingayats would find it easier to get in larger numbers into Government service. If their communal element in the Government service is only about 1 per cent to-day, they could have 90 per cent in the unified Karnatak.

KARNATAK IN MAKING

Such an eventuality is bound to happen. There is nothing in it that can frighten men like me who are eager for the unification of Karnatak. What is anti-national and fanatically communal to-day is merely a passing phase. I am eager to see this phase buried soon so that the real leaders of the community who are still in the making in schools and colleges may find an early scope to blossom forth into leaders of Karnatak.

I have no fear of Government by majority. I have expressed in the clearest terms that Karnatak belongs to the Lingayats. My only contention is that the majority commmnity must not degrade itself by narrow communalism. It has now become almost a fashion with some Lingayat leaders to hide their personal ambitions under the plea of backwardness.

WHY RAKE UP PAST?

Mr. Kambli says that the Lingayats have carried an extensive propaganda for unification. Will he tell me when and how? Why go in for the dead past? Let us see what was done at Dharwar only the other day for the cause of Unification.

Although the Maha Sabha session was purely of a religious and social character an eleventh hour plan was hatched for holding a Lingayat Political Conference. Nobody knows who was the clever engineer. But a rickety structure under the name of Lingayat Political Association was erected with the second hand materials picked up on the spot. If such a thing could be done what prevented them from holding a Unification Conference also? Beyond passing a formal resolution on Unification nothing of importance was done for this burning question. This work was left to others.

BE LEADERS

I do not mean by this that the Lingayat leaders are apathetic towards this question. What I do mean and say with all the emphasis I can command is that the Lingayats must take more lively interest in this question. They must lead other communities at least in this question. Their community being richer they must come out with liberal donations for financing the deputation of witnesses to London and also for

Frankly Speaking

NEW GOVERNOR.

The Tories usually dump their back-benchers and small part men into India. Lord Brabourne may be 38, but he is an unknown quantity.

India has to be victimised somehow and she has to find sinecures for party politicians. The present appointment cannot be justified otherwise.

Lord Brabourne served for a spell as a Parliamentary Private Secretary to Sir Samuel Hoare and his knowledge of Indian affairs is probably limited to what he may have learnt during that period. Sir Samuel's own ignorance about things Indian is colossal.

The only good thing about the Governor-designate is that he is young, and it is not too late for him to learn something about his work and his responsibilities to the people rather than to his party.

JAPANESE MENACE.

The Government of India are complacently looking on while Japan is squeezing the life out of the Indian mill industry. All kinds of goods, both cheap and nasty, are being dumped into India, and nothing is being done to prevent their influx.

It is some consolation that Britishers have grown uneasy equally with Indians. The report of the Investigating Committee of the Federation of Indian Industries shows that the Japanese menace has to be stemmed in time, otherwise it might sweep off everything in its way.

Japanese competition is not confined to piece-goods alone, but to everything from heavy chemicals to rubber goods. The Japanese war lords draw their sustenance from the profits they derive from their exports to other countries.

Once India refuses to buy from Japan, or materially decreases her wants from that country, there is bound to be a healthy reaction on her. In the meantime new markets are being created by Japan in Manchuria and in her new conquests in China, which may to some extent neutralise the Chinese boycott against her.

A HUGE PROBLEM.

While the Government in British India are only talking of the appalling indebtedness of the ryots, the Bhavnagar Durbar has done something substantial towards solving the problem in the State.

It is reported that the State has written off thirty lakhs of rupees of land revenue and has also paid up the peasants' private dues to the Sowcars.

That is not all. To prevent relapse into chronic indebtedness, the State is said to have reduced land revenue in proportion to the fall in prices of crops and to have adopted several other relief measures.

This is certainly a good step in the right direction, and Bhavnagar's example may well be followed by other States, and British India.

The total rural indebtedness in the country is estimated to be not less than 600 crores of rupees and drastic remedies will have to be applied to cope with the problem.

WANTED: A CLEAR STATEMENT.

It is time the British Government issued a statement clearly indicating their intentions about the Burmese question.

Sir Samuel is understood to have assured a deputation led by the Aga Khan that he would recommend the Chairman of the Joint Committee to invite a Burmese delegation at a later stage of its present proceedings.

The assurance is characteristically vague. It is not clear whether Government choose to proceed with the Burmese question on the basis of separation, as they have hitherto done in defiance of public opinion in the country as expressed at the last general election.

As regards the resolution of the local Legislative Council, however vague it might be in some respects, it has explicitly rejected the Premier's constitutional plan on the basis of separation and even the principle of separation.

The alternative—according to Government themselves—is Federation. Sir Samuel, therefore, cannot reasonably contend that Burma has evaded a clear decision.

POWER TO THOSE WHO GIVE POWER.

The C. P. and Berar Kashtakar Sangh, Nagpur, has recently passed a resolution that in the new constitution 40 per cent. of the seats in the legislatures should be reserved for agriculturists irrespective of caste and creed, 10 per cent. for the Harijans, 10 per cent. for "qualified" women.

The remainder of 40 per cent. might be distributed according to the Premier's Award. This is an eminently sane resolution as 80 per cent. of the Indian population consists of agriculturists.

They bear the main burden of taxation and yet not the slightest effort has been made by the Premier to give them representation. Communalists, exploiting capitalists and landlords have to be placated first, and their claims have been met generously.

If we are to have real Swaraj—nobody says that the White Paper contains its germs—power must be given to those from whom the Government derive their real power. But since the masses have been kept in ignorance and poverty, they will remain so, in the new order of things.

A LOT TO LEARN!

To The Editor of "The Chronicle."

Sir,—I notice that Mr. Karve has completely exposed the absurdity of Prof. Gokhale's fresh attempt to introduce religion as a basis of education in the schools and colleges of this Presidency.

As is well known, his first attempt on this question met with the failure it deserved at the meeting of the Senate of the University of Bombay. This time, Mr. Gokhale may find some encouragement in the silly support your evening contemporary has given him. There is no doubt that the writer of that article, favouring religious education in schools and colleges, is an ignoramus on the subject, and that his drivel could not have impressed any sensible and thoughtful person.

It is clear that Mr. Gokhale talks of religion in a very loose and ambiguous sense. What does he understand by it, and what are the points of his religious basis? In a country like India where there are many religions, one would like to know on what particular religion would he base his moral and ethical lessons. Or what particular religion does he claim is the originator of moral and ethical codes? As regards "eternal verities", may I point out that he is only repeating parrot-like these words without, I am sure, being able to explain what he means by them? As regards moral and ethical ideas, are there any such sound ones in the different religions prevailing here?

In Europe, it has been frankly admitted by all honest and sincere people, who have no vested interest in the matter, that Christianity has been a failure after 1900 years of teaching. The last War and the present state of things there have proved this to the unbiassed long ago. After 1900 years of a religion which professes to teach goodwill among men and brotherhood, we are still at the stage of the cannon, the rifle and bayonet. We see selfish seekers after the loaves and fishes of this world as active and wicked as ever! One, of course, could not expect anything better from a religion which bases its moral and ethical doctrines on the idea of Sin against an Almighty Being. What kind of character could it form when the incentive to do good was the promise of a reward in another world and the threat of punishment there for wrong doing? Man did not so much in against Humanity as he sinned against God! Small wonder such a religion has never succeeded in reforming mankind.

The fact is that eighty per cent. of Christians though they may profess to believe in all these ideas do not show by their action that they care two hoots for a life, good or bad, in the hereafter.

May I ask Mr. Gokhale whether the ideas of the other religions prevailing here are better? How does he propose to inculcate these lofty ideas of sound ethics and morality in the minds of students? Is he going to do so on the authority of Allah, Jehovah, Shiva, Vishnu, or Ahura-Mazda? What about the teachers? Suppose they, themselves, do not believe these things is he going to force them to make a confession of faith?

Mr. Gokhale should know that all this has been tried abroad and has failed. Has he forgotten that all moral and ethical ideas are embodied in the Golden Rule first enunciated by Confusicius who was an atheist: "Do not unto others what you would not like others to do unto you?" Does this require a religious basis to impress young minds of its absolute soundness?

If Mr. Gokhale thinks so, all I can say is that he has a good deal to learn yet about the questions of ethics and morality and the role of religion in importing the same.—Yours, etc.

BELGAUM ARTS COLLEGE

To The Editor of "The Chronicle."

Sir,—At last, the Government has given its sanction for the opening of another Arts College in Karnatak at Belgaum, which was a long-felt necessity.

Looking to the population basis one College was not enough for the College-going students, from Karnatak. The fact that many students are forced to go to other Colleges to receive their education, which are faraway from their place, is a sufficient proof for the claim of another arts College. Efforts made by recognised institutions of Karnatak were futile in the past, due to the negligence of the University of Bombay.

Moreover Belgaum has a bracing climate and the standard of living is comparatively cheap. No doubt looking to these facts the College is sure to attract many students from Karnatak.

Now the whole responsibility lies on the leaders, the members of the Institution, and no less on the students of Karnatak, to make the College "a model and successful one."

In this matter our felicitations are due to the Bombay Government, for giving the sanction at an early date.—Yours, etc.

SATTA GAMBLING IN MATUNGA

To the Editor of "The Chronicle."

Sir,—The way to the bazar of Matunga has become a rendezvous of the 'satta' gambling fraternity.

The trouble caused to the residents in the vicinity can be better imagined than described and I do not propose to waste your valuable columns by a description of the nuisance caused thereby. Suffice it to say that, these persons gather in three's and four's and keep on discussing the likely figure until midnight after which they disperse.

I may say that this is being done under the very nose of the police, for, anybody passing through can often see a policeman standing or sauntering. From the crowd and the nature of the discussions carried on it would appear that someone in the bazar—full of banias and barbers,—is receiving bets on cotton figures.

The recent cases of 'Satta' in which the police have been busy prompts me to write this in the hope that Sir A.P. Kelly, our redoubtable Commissioner of Police, will help us to get rid of the pest.—Yours etc.,

PRICE OF PETROL

To The Editor of "The Chronicle."

Sir,—I was interested to read a letter under the above heading which appeared in a recent issue of "The Bombay Chronicle". Your correspondent has raised a number of points which are of considerable importance to the motorist, although the bewilderment which he complains of is largely due to an obvious confusion of thought, as may be judged from the last paragraph but one of his letter.

Although I have been watching your columns with much eagerness for a reply on behalf of W.I.C., I cannot say I am surprised that no such reply has been forthcoming. In fact, I believe that, as a matter of the most elementary economics, it is too much for a consumer to ask for a guarantee of a specific low price for all time. Quite apart from this, however, it should be evident to anybody who has been following the recent trend of the petrol market that the present price of petrol is a subnormal one and is due to an exceptional state of competition.

In fact, none of the petrol companies has made a secret of the fact that the price at which they are selling their petrol is definitely uneconomic. In these circumstances, it is absurd to ask any of the petrol companies "to get down to their rock bottom price."

That the present low price is the result of peculiar circumstances, that moreover it is an artificial creation and can never last for any length of time, so long at any rate as the Government duty on petrol continues to be what it is—and I do hope that Mr. "Bewildered" knows that it is no less than 10 annas per gallon—that further, the rate war in the present case was started by the old companies who evidently did not relish the entry of a newcomer in the field—all these are facts which are only too well-known.

If I remember rightly, I distinctly recollect having read in "The Bombay Chronicle" about the time that the rate war was started last year, a statement on behalf of the W. I. C., openly declaring their intention to sell their petrol at the prevailing prices. There can, therefore, be no question of W. I. C. claiming the responsibility for the reduction in price. It is nevertheless true that W. I. C. unintentionally—probably in spite of themselves—were responsible for petrol being made available to the motorist much cheaper than it had been for a very long time.—Yours, etc.,

Story Of Message To Miraben In Shaky Hand

POONA, June 2.

Writing in the "Harijan" of third June Mr. Mahadev Desai gives the following accounts of Gandhiji's breaking of the fast:—

"So the day arrived for which hundreds and thousands had prayed for. Scenes were as solemn as on 8th May. Men and women of all faiths were represented there in response to invitation of the doorkeeper. Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, who for once in her life had forsaken her extravagant generosity and become niggardly in the interests of the patient for whom she had kept a tireless vigil.

HARIJAN BOY DOES NOT TURN UP

"I had been expecting that a Harijan boy who had entered into that contract with Gandhiji on eight May to appear punctually at noon. But he did not turn up and the orange juice was supplied not by him but by the kind hostess, Lady Thackersey, who perhaps, felt the luckiest woman that day. The Harijan boy was not there, but the doorkeeper had flung doors open to all Harijans and the first and the only garland offered to Gandhiji before the breaking of the fast was that of a Harijan girl who then sat in the midst of her sisters of rank and station.

FUNCTION BEGINS.

"With the name of Rama on our lips, we began the function which was inaugurated by Dr. Ansari with texts from the Holy Koran which revealed the spiritual meaning of fasting during which the aspirant after grace had to feast himself on good and to fast from all evil. Brothers from the Christa Seva Sangh sang Gandhiji's favourite hymn, 'When I survey the wondrous Cross.' Prof. Wadia sang the Parsi prayer and Kaka Saheb sang the verse in which a devotee offers his prayers to the embodiment of all good, of all freedom from passion and hatred, and of all love and compassion, whatever be the name by which men call Him.

POET'S SONG.

"Then came the Poet's song in which he invokes Almighty to come with the torrent of mercy when the springs of life are dried and with nectared music when all sweetness is missing. The poet could not be there as at the break of the September fast and so I sang it in His name. Last came the hymn of a true Vaishnava which is almost as life-breath to Gandhiji and issuing on all solemn occasions when we are called upon to face sorrow and joy with equanimity.

"But the breaking of the fast was not yet to be, not until he had thanked the Giver of all good. For good does often take concrete from and must be thanked for in concrete way. He summoned me to his side and whispered a message which I took down and read out to those assembled. It was received with solemnity which became the depth of stillness and profound affection out of which it was uttered.

SERVICES OF DOCTORS AND FRIENDS

"And Need I name those whose services and prayers have helped during the hour of our sore trial? Dr. Ansari and Dr. Bidhan Roy who for days laid aside their busy practice and entrusted their distinguished patients to the care of other doctors, the Naturo-path and fasting cure expert, Mr. Dinshaw Mehta who placed himself and his sole establishment at the service of Gandhiji for all 24 hours, eminent Bombay doctors and Poona doctors who ran to "Parnakuti" at a moment's notice, the young men who nursed Bapu sleeplessly and who want to be nameless, the countess friends who here and abroad offered daily prayers those who fasted and prayed in silence, all these helped and sustained him through the ordeal.

"I am sure that the disinterested prayers and services of these pure souls outweighed the sins and shortcomings of those of us who had failed and helped in the victory of spirit over flesh. Kind telegrams have been pouring in from all parts of the world. Let no one expect even an acknowledgment of them. I will assure them that they were all received gratefully.

A MUSSALMAN'S GIFT.

"Little tit-bits of interest have been carried to Gandhiji's ears and I cannot help mentioning one of them out of grateful heart for the kind thought that prompted the gift. A Mussalman friend from Bombay sent on the 29th a pair of bangles and auspicious Kunkum for Kasturbai with a sweet little letter: "I send you these humble gifts with the prayer that you may wear these tokens of good luck for ever.' Kasturbai wore them in gratefulness and even Gandhiji was deeply touched when he was told of it. It is these unknown well-wishers who have helped in the victory.

MESSAGE TO MIRA BEN.

"It is not a victory, however that occupies him who waged the war against flesh. The lover of the truest teachings of our scriptures, Gandhiji has tried to live up to them. And it is as His bond slave that he has taken every task and it is as His bond slave that he will await and take up next. Within a few minutes of the break of the fast he asked for a pen and paper and wrote down with his own shaking hand, words which are to-day the proud possession of the devoted daughter who deserves it. That little letter to Miraben was the only thing he wrote on Monday and Tuesday. Ordinarily I should not dare touch sacred thing to common gaze. But I reproduce it if only to reveal the thought that was uppermost in Gandhiji's mind as soon as the task had been finished:

"I have just broken the fast. The next task commences. He will find ways and means."

THE NEXT TASK.

"With the consciousness of duty done and in perfect faith of self-surrender Gandhiji awaits the next task and what shall we do, how shall we face it, will it find us prepared as Kasturbai truly said: "While I rejoice today it will be a greater joy if the Harijans are soon restored for a fuller life in the Hindu family.'

Let us remember Gandhiji will have no rest or joy or peace until untouchability goes. And not until we have made ourselves fit instruments for the fulfilment of his mission can we expect the benediction and your sorrow shall be turned into joy and your joy no man taketh from you."—A. P.

If this one demand for Unification could be fulfilled hundreds of oher demands of the Lingayats would automatically bear fruit. It is precisely this consideration that prompted me to criticise the Lingayat leaders for their failure to utilise their unique position and influence to make the Unifiction cause stronger than it is to-day.

GET OUT OF THE RUT.

The first conference of the Lingayat youths was also held during the Maha Sabha Week. Mr. M. S. Sardar, Bar-at-Law, a class-mate and a friend of mine in the Deccan College, was the president. Mr. Sardar is well-known for the refreshingly liberal views he holds on matters political and social. He is a never a hot-head. When this young man with ripe understanding uttered a mild threat in the mildest terms to the strongest Government in his presidential address before his young brothers, there was at once a tumult and an uproar in the hall. The cry of "Shame Shame" filled the air.

This incident is enough to show how the fearlessness of the young is twisted to suit the convenience of elderly leaders. It is why I have asked my young brethren in the Lingayat community to extricate themselves from the rut into which they have fallen.

WHERE IS INDIA'S FISCAL INDEPENDENCE?

Are British Government Negotiating With Japan Behind India's Back?

(By N. S. V.).

The reported acceptance by the Japanese Government and representatives of the Japanese Textile Industry, of the British proposal for a Tariff Conference, and the important conditions with which such acceptance has been hedged, are all pregnant with great possibilities from the point of view of this country.

It is unfortunate that, when the question of evolving a formula for the solution of the Indian constitutional problem is being anxiously sought after by politicians both in England and this country, the British Cabinet should try to arrive at an understanding with Japan, apparently, behind the backs of the Government of India and the Indian Legislature.

The telegrams which have appeared in the Press are vague, and neither the Government of India nor the British Government have yet thought fit to set public feelings at rest with an authoritative statement on the situation. It is strange that, in a matter vitally affecting the industries of this country, the Government should take the Japanese Government and Japanese manufacturers into their confidence and leave the public of this country to obtain first-hand knowledge of these pourparlers through Japanese sources.

INDIA'S FISCAL INDEPENDENCE!

We were assured on several occasions that India's fiscal independence was complete, and so long as there was agreement between the Government of India and the Legislature, the Secretary of State will not ordinarily interfere. But what do we find now?

Several Indian industries are threatened with extinction on account of cut-throat competition from Japan.

So far as the Cotton Textile Industry is concerned, it appears to have made out a good case for additional protection against the further depreciation of the Yen. It was announced in April that a representative deputation of millowners from all parts of the country waited on the Viceroy to urge the urgency of the matter, and the public was anxiously awaiting an announcement from Government now.

It was Japanese competition which opened the eyes of the Government of India to the necessity of reinforcing the existing tariff law of the country.

A MERE MYTH.

After having gone so far, it is really difficult to understand Great Britain's desire to negotiate with Japan on the basis that there should be no question of a further rise in duties on Japanese piecegoods. It is clear that the first country to be penalised under the anti-dumping legislation will be Japan. Is it then meant that Britain wants us to believe that, even after the expiration of the notice of denunciation of the Indo-Japanese Convention, the anti-dumping legislation should not be invoked against Japan? If that is so, the so-called fiscal autonomy is nothing but a myth.

Apart from this question, the report of the Tariff Board appointed by the Government of India to investigate the Indian Textile Industry's claim to substantive protection has not yet been published. I cannot claim to have any inside knowledge of the Board's findings, but the interests concerned unanimously condemned the severity of Japanese competition, and it would not be surprising if the Board in their report advocated strong tariff action against Japan.

JAPAN'S LOVE OR HATRED?

What is behind all this?

Immediately on the return of the millowners' delegation from Delhi, an aggressive propaganda against a further rise in duties was initiated by Japanese manufacturers. They prefaced their case with many sincere protestations of love, friendship and sympathy for the poor Indian agriculturist, and threatened that in the event of a further rise in duties Japan would retaliate with a boycott of Indian cotton. Very alarming prospects for the poor Indian ryot indeed!

They had only two alternatives before them: Mighty Japan's sincerity, sympathy, friendship and love, or her hatred and boycott of Indian cotton. It was not very difficult to understand what Japan's love would mean. Ask China about it!

Whatever the juristic view of the matter, there can be no question of a tariff truce between India and Japan. We do not object to a few million yards of Japanese goods coming into this country every year, but what we do object to is, the ridiculously low price at which they are marketed, and in the face of such an economic war from Japan, the idea of a tariff truce is something which the Government and the public of the country cannot digest.

LINKING HYDERABAD

Telephone Schemes Under Consideration

HYDERABAD, (Dn.), (By Mail.)

Hyderabad bids fair to be the first among Indian States to establish telephonic contact with the British Isles and British India as important proposals for expanding the present telephonic facilities, obtaining in the State have just been forwarded for sanction by the Government. Incidentally, the scheme, when carried into effect, will place practically all district towns, in the State, and more particularly agricultural centres like Aurangabad, Jalna, and other cotton growing areas, in direct communication with the Capital and also with cotton centres in British India.

ALTERNATIVE SCHEMES.

Two alternative schemes in this regard are now under cosideration by the Nizam's Government.

The first, which it is estimated will cost approximately Rs. 4 lakhs, consists of laying a double line, which will incorporate the carrier system, to link Hyderabad with Sholapur, and through Sholapur, with all two presidency towns in British India. At the cost of an additional Rs. 20,000 it is intended then to link up Hyderabad with London.

The second proposal is to lay a single line from Hyderabad to Wadi along the Railway lines and thence to Sholapur; the whole system to be run by the Government of India on terms to be agreed upon.

EXPERT IN HYDERABAD.

It is hoped that the first of these two schemes will be found more feasible as it would considerably pave the way to ultimately bring all important towns and district headquarters in telephonic communication with the seat of Government, in addition to providing facilities for industrial purposes, the want of which are sorely felt at present. As propostd at present the scheme is a double line beteween Hyderabad and Sholapur would enable it to be tapped at seven important intermediate points, namely, Kandi, Sadasiv, Ekeli, Homnabad, Nuldroog, Gulbarga and Bidar from which last named place the line would be further extended to the cotton growing districts of Parbani, Jalna, Nander and Aurangabad on the one hand and Nizamabad on the other. This, in addition to the existing trunk line between Hyderabad and Warangal and another proposed, line to Mahbubnagar will complete the telephonic system in the State.

In this connection it may be mentioned that Mr. Sigurd Kruse, an European expert in the Carrier Telephone System, is on a visit to Hyderabad and those concerned have not been slow to avail themselves of his presence in the State.—A.P.

16TH SUSPECT ARRESTED

The Bombay Police arrested on Thursday one more suspect in connection with the theft of ornaments and cash, valued at Rs. 8,591, from the shop of Badri Narayan Gaungalux in Kika Street, Bombay. So far 16 persons have been arrested by the police in this connection.

WAR DEBT PROBLEM

Britain Ready To Sit Round Table With Others

RUGBY, June 8.

Asked in the House of commons whether any decision had been reached by the Government regarding the payment of the next instalment of the war-debt to the United States, the Chancellor of Exchequer, Mr. Neville Chamberlain said that the Government would gladly co-operate with the United States and any other Government in any measure that appeared calculated to assist in raising and maintaining the level for world prices. As to the nature of such measures, that obviously could not be determined until conversations had taken place with the representatives of the Governments concerned.—B. O. W.

Subhas Bose Recalls Incident During Victory Celebrations In Vienna : Tug Of War Between Nazis And Heimwehr

(FROM SUBASH BOSE.)

VIENNA, May 21.

Since I wrote last week, there has been a slight improvement in the condition of Mr. V. J. Patel. He is still very weak. Attempts to move about have aggravated his condition so that he has been ordered complete rest. He will have to remain in a Sanatorium in Vienna for some time yet, after which he may be going to some watering place in Czechoslovakia.

My condition shows slow but steady improvement. The pain is less acute than before, though it comes on regularly. I am able to take walks now. The British Government have at last allowed me to go to Germany so that I may undergo treatment at a Sanatorium in the Black Forest, as recommended by Prof. Neumann I shall however stay in Vienna for a few weeks till I feel somewhat stronger than now.

VICTORY CELEBRATIONS.

Last week, Vienna celebrated the 250th anniversary of the victory over the Turks. In 1683, the Turks who had overrun the whole of Eastern Europe were for the first time stopped near Vienna. That proved the turning point in the onward march of the Turks, and they could not make any further advance.

The Austrian Fascists (Heimwehr) and the German Fascists (Nazis) both wanted to celebrate this event—the former being the supporters of the Government and the latter their opponents. Some leaders of the Nazi movement in Germany came to Vienna to take part in the anniversary function, but the Government prohibited processions through the town on the occasion. The German leaders were politely told on behalf of the Austrian Government that their visit to Vienna was not welcome.

The Nazis were however allowed to hold a meeting on the 13th May.

The next day, as a contrast to the Nazi celebration, the Heimwehr had their celebration. Forty thousand men from all parts of Austria arrived at Vienna in special trains to take part in the meeting and the procession that had been announced. They assembled at Schonbrunn, the former summer palace of the Emperor and from there they marched into the town. Forty thousand men in the uniform of the Heimwehr Party took 2-1/2 hours to march past. At the end of the march, a mammoth meeting was held which was addressed by leaders of the Heimwehr volunteers and the Prime Minister (Chancellor), Dr. Dolfuss.

The National Socialists tried a counter demonstration when the Heimwehr were marching—by shouting "Hail Hitler," in reply to the shouts of "Hail Starhemberg" which were raised by the supporters of the Heimwehr. But the National Socialists (Nazis) were dispersed by the Police and many arrest were made.

From the incidents of the 13th and 14th May, it seems as if the present Government supported by the Heimwehr party intend to fight the National Socialists (Nazis). The Heimwehr demonstration while celebrating the victory of the Viennese over the Turks—incidentally showed the public that the present Government are not weak, but that they also have their "Storm Troops" in the Heimwehr volunteeers.

What will the present tension in Austria ultimately lead to? The Heimwehr objective is restoration of the Hapsburg monarchy in Austria. The Nazi objective is a union with Germany. It is said that the former have the moral support of Italy, while the latter have the moral support of Germany. Between these 2 parties—the Social Democrats, who are the common enemy of both, are playing a watching game. The Social Democrats represent over sixty per cent of the electorate in Vienna, but their following is less strong in the country. The Heimwehr has a poor following in Vienna itself, but a fairly good following in the country as a whole.

The Nazis, who as a party, are the latest to arrive in the field, are everywhere increasing their following particularly after the victory of Hitler in Germany. They claim that if there is an election to-day, they will increase their strength considerably and may become the largest single party. But it is difficult to correct in one's estimate in the present uncertain state of things. The Social Democrats, on the other hand, say that they will be able to maintain their present strength in the event of an election and that any gains the Nazis may make will be at the expense of other parties.

ANXIETY ABOUT MAHATMA.

The fast of Mahatma Gandhi has been causing anxiety to all Indians abroad. The latest news goes to show that he has been standing the strain of the fast fairly well on the whole. We hope and pray that till the end he will stand the ordeal well and that there will not be any permanent injury to his health.

Thanks to the Municipal authorities, during the last fortnight I have had the opportunity of visiting some of the municipal institutions that have been set up in Vienna during the last twelve years under the inspiration of the Social Democrat Party. They have been endeavouring to convert the municipality into a poor man's Corporation. By taxing luxuries, amusements, etc., and without incurring loans, as is done elsewhere, they have provided housing accommodation for two hundred thousand people. Besides this, they have done wonderful work for medical relief, education, children's welfare, and health of the population. Most of the public utilities in Vienna like electricity, gas, etc., are municipalised. Here you see socialism in practice and it is an object lesson to all those who are interested in civic problems and in municipal progress.

Apart from municipal endeavour, the efforts made by private initiative, on co-operative lines, to improve the amenities of life are noteworthy. The other day I was invited to a flowershow organised by the "Small Goodeness". Association I was surprised to see the progress made by the small gardeners in rearing different kinds of flowers which formerly only the rich people could afford to rear. There was also a demonstration of different methods of decorating window-fronts, etc., with creepers and flowers in a way which is within the reach of the poor. The attempt, being made in this way to bring culture and beauty within the reach of the poor is really praiseworthy.

I find from the papers that the relatives of those who have been transported to the Andamans have organised an association for looking after the welfare of the transported prisoners. This is just as it should be. Such an association will serve to keep fresh in the minds of the public the memory of those unfortunate political prisoners who have been deported to the Andaman prison. I have no doubt that the full weight of the public opinion will be behind an association of this kind.

P. E. N. CONGRESS.

On the 19th April, I wrote to friends in India drawing their attention to the necessity of organising an Indian Branch of the International Society of Authors, journalists, etc., known popularly in Europe as the P.E.N. (Poets, Editors, Novelists, etc.), Club. I am glad to read in the Indian papers of the 2nd and 3rd May that an Indian Branch of the P.E.N. Club is going to be started in India soon. This organisation serves to bring together the intellectuals of all lands and is of great value in public life—both national and international. I was pained to find on reading the literature of this organisation that India was not represented on this organisation in spite of her contribution to world literature in recent years—though our poet Tagore had been made an honorary member of the P.E.N. Club of London. At present the annual congress of the P.E.N. Club is being held at Raguza in Jugoslavia. Next year it will be held in Scotland. I hope the Indian Branch of the P.E.N. Club will soon send an invitation requesting that the P. E. N. Congress in 1935 be held in India. I am sure this proposal will be supported by many countries in Europe if Indians who are known outside India back this invitation.

FROM ILLITERATE GROOM TO BRIGADE COMMANDER

Story Of Mahomedali Khan's Alleged Conspiracy Against State : Rampur Court Sensation

NEW DELHI, June 1.

An amazing story of an illiterate groom rising to the position of a Brigade Commander and leading conspiracy of officials against Government was related to the Rampur State Court.

The Crown Counsel, Mr. Asaf Ali of Delhi, in opening the case alleged that Mohammadali Khan, Colonel, Rampur State Forces formerly a groom to the ruler of the State, getting Rs. 2 a month, and four others, including one absconder, were guilty of sedition and conspiracy to bring the Ruler and his Government into hatred and create disaffection against the State. Mohammadali Khan conspired with those officials (who as a measure of economy were discharged), with a view to creating a situation which, he thought, would compel the Ruler to send for him for quelling the disorders thus created.

A full account of Mohammadali Khan's designs was narrated by the approver, who was the Secretary of the accused for 25 years, and details were supplied by 40 other witnesses in ten days' trial.

HEINOUS OFFENCE.

The Judge discharged one accused and observed that it was a peculiarly heinous offence, particularly as the principal offender, who was once a high and influential officer of the State and who should have regarded himself as under a heavy debt of gratitude to the State, had not only proved disloyal but treacherously ungrateful and had hatched the most heinous plot against the Ruler, but in view of his past services and old age and full confession of his guilt, he was sentenced to only three years' rigorous imprisonment and his other associates to lighter sentences ranging from one to two years' rigorous imprisonment as their share of guilt was of a different nature.

It is understood that following receipt of a petition for mercy, the Ruler of the State has granted Mohammadali Khan a conditional remission of the sentence.—A.P.

NO PARTY DIFFERENCE WHATEVER

Madras Ministers Contradict Rumour

OOTACAMUND, June 2.

Three Ministers of the Government of Madras have issued the following joint statement:—

"Certain reports, that have appeared in the Press to the effect that there have been serious differences amongst the Ministers and in Justice Party, have led to enquiries from many party men in the Districts. We have, therefore, thought it desirable to publish a joint statement that the reports are quite unfounded and we are working in harmony and co-operation with each other. There is no split either amongst us or in our party."—A. P.

DOCTOR IN GRIP OF "INFERIORITY COMPLEX"

Takes Fatal Doze Of Morphia, After Promising Not To Attempt Suicide

How a young Irish doctor, a victim of the influenza epidemic, returned after a Mediterranean trip seemingly restored in health, only to develop suddenly suicidal tendencies, was described at an inquest at Lowestoft.

Restrained at first by his dispenser from frenzied attempts at self-destruction, the doctor was pacified by a medical colleague, to whom he confessed he was suffering from an "inferiority complex," and to whom he promised to make no further attempts at suicide.

Alas! this pledge was not kept. Within a few hours the ill-fated Irishman telephoned to his fellow-physician that he had taken a fatal dose of morphia, and, despite an all-night fight, he succumbed to the drug, says "News of the World."

ALL NIGHT FIGHT FOR LIFE.

A tragic story was told at the inquest, which was on Dr. William George Hazelton, 35, of London-road, North Lowestoft.

Dr. Hazelton, who was of Irish descent, was well known locally, and had a large practice in the town.

His solicitor stated that he had no financial worry, and his secretary and dispenser, Mr. Thomas William Allen, declared that the doctor was greatly overworked and run down as the result of the influenza epidemic.

Dr. Hazelton subsequently went for a cruise in the Mediterranean, and since returning had resumed his normal duties. Nothing out of the ordinary occurred until one day during the week, when he became very strange in his manner.

"I saw him in his consulting room," Mr. Allen proceeded, "take a tube of morphia sulphate tablets from the drawer of his desk. He did not answer when I asked him what he was going to do with them, and he offered no resistance when I took them away.

STRUGGLE IN BEDROOM.

"He said, 'Well, I've got plenty more here.' He then took from the drawer a box containing a number or similar tubes, and I called in the housekeeper, Mrs. Mallam. The housekeeper and I held his hands to prevent him doing anything to himself, but eventually, at his request, we released him.

"He then took something from his visiting bag, and when we held him again I took a surgeon's circular needle out of his trousers pocket. When we again let him go he tried to grab a pair of scissors, and then went to his bedroom, where he picked up his nail-scissors and began to press the points into one of his wrists.

"I took the scissors away and held him round the chest with my arms. After a while, on his promise to keep still, I let him go, and I held him in conversation until the arrival of Dr. Palmer.

"After Dr. Palmer's visit Dr. Hazelton went out to visit patients, and when he returned he said to me, 'You were foolish in calling the other doctor. You have shown me up. You are fired.'

"Before he left again on further professional visits he patted me on the shoulder, and said, 'Take no notice of what I said to you. It's all right.'"

Dr. W. Hodson Palmer described Dr. Hazelton as a man of unstable, emotional temperament, and added that he had remarked once or twice that he was lonely, although he had a great many friends.

PLEDGE BROKEN.

Dr. Palmer told of being called by Allen at 11-30 a.m., when he found Dr. Hazelton wearing a rather wild expression.

When questioned he said, "Well, I have got an inferiority complex. I feel I want to make an end of things."

He also said he believed he was suffering from diabetes. After being calmed down he promised to make no further attempt at suicide.

Dr. Palmer stated he heard no more of the matter until shortly after 5 p.m., when Dr. Hazelton telephoned in a rather sleepy voice and told him he had taken five grains of morphia.

Witness added that he and Dr. Halkyard rushed Dr. Hazelton to the nursing home, where, after calling in Dr. Starling, of Norwich, they tried every method of revival.

Inferiority complex, Dr. Palmer agreed, was a definite condition with some people, who usually tried to hide their feelings. At times those people who appeared to be most confident suffered from it.

The coroner in returning a verdict of "Suicide while of unsound mind," expressed the conviction that Dr. Hazelton had yielded to a sudden impulse to put an end to his life.

Sir John Joyce Broderich, the new British Ambassador at Buenos Aires is critically ill in London.

FACTS

The uncertainty—a marked characteristic of Cod-liver oil—has been altogether eliminated from and does not exist in—

"COD-LI-LEU"

(In lieu of Cod-liver Oil)

A concentrated extract of an Indian Vegetable Species pronounced by distinguished European medical men and journals in the following terms":—

"Its Chemical composition resembles that of Cod-liver Oil, owing to its containing substances rich in phosphates, lecithin and neucleo-albumin. It also contains considerable quantities of iron in an organic form, which enables it to be readily absorbed." —Bull. Soc. de Thir. "It can be employed as a substitute for Cod-liver Oil in every case in which the latter is indicated." —Dr. P. Blum.

"COD-LI-LEU" is the one reliable—palatable—soothing—powerful VEGETABLE SUBSTITUTE. 22 minims [equal to about 20 grs.] of concentrated Vitamin D representing the activity of about 3750 international units, are added to every ounce of "Cod-li-leu". This Vitamin D is not derived from Cod-liver Oil. Consequently, it is free from the objections associated with Cod-liver Oil preparations.

"COD-LI-LEU"

May cost a little more than ordinary "Cod-liver Oil." But, "Cod-li-leu" is not "just as good." It is infinitely better. Here are the facts.

Compare "COD-LI-LEU" with "COD-LIVER"

—MAKE YOUR CHOICE—

1 There is no knowing whether the "COD-LIVER OIL" you take was extracted from healthy fish or diseased fish.	1 There is all the evidence that "COD-LI-LEU" is extracted from a vegetable species—green and fresh.
2 There is no evidence that Vitamin D—the most essential factor for which COD-LIVER OIL is taken was not mostly boiled away in the process of extraction.	2 There is the fact that a definite volume of synthetised Vitamin D is incorporated in "COD-LI-LEU" in addition to what it must contain naturally.
3 There is no gainsaying that COD-LIVER OIL is unpleasant, repulsive and disgusting.	3 There is nothing in "COD-LI-LEU" to make it a vile-tasting and nauseating concoction.
4 There is no use challenging the fact that sweetened and "acceptable" preparations of "COD-LIVER OIL" are next to useless in their action. They have been proved useless.	4 There is the distinguished Medical and Scientific opinion confirming that "COD-LI-LEU" in its chemical composition and physiological action resembles Cod-liver Oil IN ITS FINEST FORM.
5 There is absolutely no use forcing such a product of the fish, uncertain in its value, on the religious and emotional susceptibilities of patients.	5 There are absolutely no unfortunate handicaps attaching to "COD-LI-LEU" as in the case of Cod-liver oil and its countless preparations.

"COD-LI-LEU"

(Made in India)

can be had in two varieties—PLAIN and in COMPOUND FORM. The PLAIN contains highly concentrated extracts of the vegetable with Vitamin D & concentrated essences of sweet almonds & Salamisri in the juice of Oranges (WITH THE RIND). The COMPOUND contains (in addition to the plain) the following in suitable ratios to make it particularly valuable in all Bronchial affections, Lung Complaints, Low Fevers and Whooping Cough:—

Guaiacol, Quinine, and Eucalyptol. The first named is the safest form of creosote and the latter two have their own specific action.

The "Plain" costs Rs. 2/12/- per bottle of 12 oz. (Dose: 1/4 oz.)
The "Compound" costs Rs. 3/4/- per bottle of 12 oz. (Dose: 1/4 oz.)
Each variety is distinctly marked, labelled and can be readily distinguished. Ask any good chemist to supply you.

Chittagong Family Stands Trial Before S. D. O.

CHITTAGONG, June 1.

At the resumed hearing of the Sakpura Case against Manindra Sharma, his mother Swarnasita Devi, wife Lalita Devi, Satis De and Sukondu Rakshit for alleged conspiracy and harbouring Miss Dipti Medha Chaudhury, the proclaimed armoury raid absconder, five more prosecution witnesses were examined before the Sadar Sub-Divisional Officer.

Describing Dipti Medha's arrest, Patiram Khondkar, Lance Naik of the 2/9th Gurkha Rifles, Patiya Camp, said that Boalkhali Thana Police, reinforced by the military, surrounded Manindra Sharma's house at midnight of the 8th January. Placing a cordon around the house the witness stood on the south side. Shortly he noticed somebody climbing down a bamboo post from upstairs who jumped on the ground below and tried to run away. Witness pursued and secured him, who was identified as Dipti Medha Choudhury in the presence of Jogendra Das, Officer-in-charge of the Boalkhali Thana.

Syedali Chaukidar of Sakpura deposed that he found accused Sukendu Rakshit and Satish De, students, and Manindra Sarma associating with Dipti Medha before the said incident, as for instance, in the football play ground.

Cross-examined, the witness said that he saw many people on the football ground.

The case was adjourned till to-morrow.—A. P.

Cement: A Thriving Industry

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FROM A TRADE REVIVAL

(From Our Special Correspondent)

BOMBAY, June 2.

The main objective of the meeting of the World Economic Conference on June 12th is the raising of the level of world commodity prices with the sole object of increasing the purchasing power of the people and thereby helping the return of economic recovery which is so much longed for by every nation.

Already the inflationary measures adopted by the U. S. authorities, consequent on the Government's going off the gold standard resulting in the devaluation of the dollar, have met with a slight success towards the end.

The prices of staple commodities have been boosted up. Cotton the prime commodity, is quoted over nine cents. Though these measures are temporary expedients with a touch of artificiality about them, it is believed that they will pave the way for the evolution of some sound and lasting ones at the World Economic Conference.

President Roosevelt's move, it would appear, was calculated instil life, as it were, into the hitherto tall talks of a "Return to World Prosperity." He has prepared the ground for a final chalking out of the programme best suited to the object in view.

India cannot remain unaffected by these world developments. As a matter of fact, she will be the first to be affected by any signs of world recovery, because of her unassailable position as a great agricultural country and as the home of many flourishing industries, such as steel, cements etc.

As such, the trade revival will have an important bearing on these industries of India.

Investors who, in these days of reduced yields, are turning their attention to some sound industrial concerns, will do well to go in for shares of Cement and Steel companies, outstanding among these are:

Tata Iron & Steel Co.,
Shahabad Cement Co.,
Indian Cement Co.,
Bundi Cement Co.,
Katni Cement Co.,
Punjab Cement Co.

They not only return a decent yield on their present prices but are capable of yielding more in the near future.

RATNAGIRI MANGO DEALERS IN FIX

Monsoon Responsible For Heavy Accumulation

RATNAGIRI, June 1.

Owing to the sudden appearance of the monsoon, the Ratnagiri mango dealers have been thrown into a pitiful plight. Since last two days the ferry steamer service between Bombay and Goa has been disorganised owing to the stormy weather and rough seas and the export of mangoes to Bombay has come to a standstill. There is generally at this time of the year a heavy rush of mango parcels to Bombay from this district.

Thousands of parcels ready for export to Bombay have been held up for want of transport facilities owing to stormy weather and the dealers fear heavy losses, if the same are not despatched early and remain unsold.—A. P.

IMPERSONATING PENSIONER WHO DIED MONTHS BACK

Pathan Arrested Just When Signing Receipt At Accountant-General's Office

Fazal Mahmood Mahomed was arrested on Thursday at 12-30 p.m. in the office of the Accountant General for cheating by impersonation and committing forgery for the purpose of cheating.

The accused is alleged to have got possession of a pension certificate of a Military Sepoy, named Gulbiland about 13 months ago. Gulbiland died at his native place in Peshawar District about a year and a half ago. The accused is alleged to have regularly collected Rs. 8, being the pension of Gulbiland, representing himself as the deceased pensioner.

On Thursday last when the accused is alleged to have affixed his thumb mark and received the amount of the pension from the Accountant General's office, he was arrested by the Bombay C. I. D. red-handed with the pension amount and the pension certificate.

The accused was remanded into Police custody for 14 days by Mr. Oscar H. Brown, Presidency Magistrate, Third Court, Bombay, on Friday morning.

MORGAN INCOME TAX ENQUIRY

Secret Partnership Agreement Published

WASHINGTON, June 1.

The Morgan's secret partnership agreement has been published. It was drawn up on March 31, 1916, after the death of the elder Mr. J. P. Morgan, founder of the firm, and provides Inter alia that a Morgan has the final decision in all disputes between partners, and may compel any partner to withdraw and fix the amount due to him.

The partners are forbidden to speculate, except with private means, or engage in any other business. The partnership is to be dissolved in the event of Morgan's death, but may be extended for three years at the request of the partners.

Mr. John Hackett claiming to be ex-Deputy Police Commissioner, New York City, has filed charges against Mr. Pecora in connection with a murder case in 1923 when Pecora was Assistant District Attorney.

Mr. Pecora, it is declared, defied Hackett to go to the bottom of the case.—Reuter.

TENSE SCENES IN COURT

WASHINGTON, June 1.

Tense scenes occurred at the Morgan Enquiry when Mr. George Whitney, one of the partners of Morgans, and Mr. Pecora exchanged a fussilade of questions and answers regarding the millions of dollars of the profit that the company "might have made," if they had sold United Corporation stocks at the height of the market instead of offering them at cost price to favoured clients.

Later Mr. John Davis, Morgan's counsel, elicited the fact that Morgan and his partners paid over £10,000,000 income-tax from 1917 to 1929 inclusive.—Reuter.

FEMALE EDUCATION IN PUNJAB

Figures Show Considerable Progress

LAHORE, June 1.

The report on the progress of education in the Punjab, for the quinquennium ending 1931-32, shows that satisfactory progress continues to be made in the extension of female education in the province, notwithstanding the difficulties which are inherent in the problem itself and others which have been imposed by reasons of finances. The total enrolment of girls in the Punjab has risen by 63 per cent. close on two lakhs representing an increase of over 3/4 lakhs during the quinquennium. The number of schools has increased by 1,450 to 5,023 from 3,575 in 1927. The average number of girls per school, therefore, works out to 39.2, which is very poor; but if the figures for the recognised schools are taken the average number of girl pupils reaches the very high figure of 364 per school.

The period under review has witnessed a considerable advance in co-education at the primary stage. The number of girls attending boys' schools has gone up by 11,383 to 21,608 and of boys attending girls' schools by 4,468 to 7,952.

The number of students in the Lahore College for Women has more than doubled itself during the five years under report. The number of resident students has risen from 25 to 65. As more high schools are opened in the provinces the number of girls applying from outside Lahore naturally increases and many have to be refused for lack of accommodation. The number of students at the Kinnaird College has increased from 26 to 105 during the 5 years under review.—A.P.

AWARDED 92 YEARS AND RS. 54000

High Court Reduces Term To Five Years

LAHORE, June 1.

An interesting appeal, in which one of the appellants had been sentenced to an aggregate term of 92 years' imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 54,000, was decided to-day by Mr. Justice Kanwar Daleep Singh at the Lahore High Court.

The appeal related to what is known as the Sargodha Treasury Stamp Fraud Case—in which there were eighteen separate cases against the same accused, namely, Abdul Karim, a clerk in the office of the Deputy Commissioner, Sargodha, his brother Sher Mohd. and two stamp-vendors, named Daulat Ram and Dina Nath.

According to the prosecution, the four accused, acting in league defrauded the Government of Rs. 52,000. Their "modus operandi" was either placing vouchers before the Collector without affixing the stamps thereto and obtaining his signature or by getting vouchers signed for smaller amounts which were later altered to bigger ones.

Accused Abdul Karim had been sentenced to an effective term of 15 years and fine of Rs. 54,000; Dina Nath to 6 years and a fine of Rs. 2,400; Sher Mohd. to two years and Rs. 600 fine and Daulatram to one year and Rs. 100 fine.

His Lordship, after hearing arguments reduced the sentence passed on Abdul Karim so that he will have actually to undergo 5 years' imprisonment, while his fine was reduced to Rs. 45,000. Dina Nath is to undergo only 4 years' imprisonment, while his fine has been remitted. The appeal of Sher Mohd. was dismissed and Daulatram was acquitted.—A.P.

HINDU YOUTH KILLS WIFE AND TAKES HIS LIFE

SHOLAPUR, June 1.

The police are investigating into the crime.—A.P.

BANKRUPT LEGACY TO INDIA

What Anglo-Indian Community Would Be If W. P. Scheme Is Adopted !

LONDON, June 1.

Indian reaction to the White Paper were dissussed at the East India Association.

Lord Lamington said that while the adoption of the White Paper would lead to serious difficulties, it would be a still worse evil to close down any idea of Indians securing responsible self-government.

On the whole it was safer to trust than to disappoint people whose expectations had been raised.

Sir Henry Gidney expressed the belief that the next two elections would see the return of the Swaraj Party. The White Paper was built upon an imaginary federation, and the federation would not be an accomplished fact for many years.

The White Paper plan practically gave up the Anglo-Indian community as the brankrupt legacy of England to India.

The Dewan of Baroda who presided said, that doubtless Indians were willing to have adequate safeguards in the early years of the new constitution, till they felt confidence in the justice of the Government, and that communities would willingly surrender the safeguards, when it was clear they were unnecessary.—Reuter.

JAPANESE IMPORTS TO IRAQ

LONDON, June 1.

The growth of Japanese competition in Iraq was illustrated in reply by Mr. Runciman, to questions in the House of Commons showing that in the last quarter of 1932 Iraq's imports of cotton piecegoods from Japan were valued at £65,067 and those from Britain £104,000 compared to £27,885 and £130,000 respectively for the quarter ended June 30, 1932.—Reuter.

KAFFIRS RALLY AGAIN

Fall In Tin Prices On London Exchange

LONDON, June 1.

On the London Stock Exchange Kaffirs opened with a sharp fall, but a Reuter message from Cape Town later elucidated the taxation problem, and the market rallied considerably.

Other sections were rather adversely affected at first, but the tendency subsequently improved. Metals were reactionary, tin especially weakening on rather disappointing month end statistics. Other commodities were quieter.

On Wall Street, after early irregularity, demand improved.—Reuter.

BALDWIN'S LEADERSHIP AT STAKE

Die-Hards Organise Solid Opposition To His India Policy

LONDON, June 2.

The Conservative Council Meeting on June 28 has assumed first-class importance, as a result of Mr. Baldwin's decision to take part in the debate to fight out the issue with critics in the most representative gathering of the Conservative Party that can be brought together. And, the simultaneous announcement for the formation of the India Defence League, indicates that the "Die-hards" are more than ever determined to continue ethe campaign against the White Paper.

It is obvious that Mr. Baldwin's personal position will be involved and it is stated that he will stake his leadership on the result of the vote, as he does not desire to remain Leader for a day longer if the Council deliberately rejects the policy to which he and his colleagues have given approval, but the prospects are that he will have no difficulty in securing a verdict.—Reuter's Special.

TEA DUTY TO REMAIN

Labour Proposal Defeated In Parliament

LONDON, June 1.

A Labour proposal to abolish the tea duty was rejected by the House of Commons by 233 votes to 30.

MOST POPULAR BEVERAGE.

It was claimed that tea was the most popular of all beverages, and also that an overwhelming majority of the population would welcome the concession to tea similar to that given to beer.

Mr. Hore-Belisha resisting the amendment said that the abolition of the duty would cost £4,000,000 yearly, and the average price of tea was lower now than in 1929 when there was no duty. Consequently the duty did not make tea less accessible to the public.—Reuter

STORER MAKES HISTORY

Jardine Reaches Best Form

LONDON, June 1.

Storer made for his club personal history by playing a magnificent innings. Every stroke of his was made in orthodox style, and he gave no chances.

During his stay at the wicket for 5-1/4 hours he reached the boundary 20 times.

Jardine gave an exhibiton of faultless and characteristic batting, hitting all round the wicket. He remained at the crease for 3-1/4 hours and hit eleven 4's. In partnership with Barling who played a chanceless innings Jardine put on 225 runs in 3 hours for the third wicket.

Barling hit fourteen boundaries. —Reuter's Special.

NAZIS ENCOURAGE MARRIAGE

State Lends Money For Furniture

BERLIN, June 1.

Novel features are contained in the law adopted by the Cabinet yesterday dealing with unemployment.

In accordance with the Nazi programme of restoring women to their "proper sphere" at home, provision is made for the reduction of taxation on householders employing domestic servants, and in order to encourage marriage the Government will lend newly wedded couples money to buy furniture up to the value of 1,000 marks, provided the wife undertakes not to accept employment as long as her husband is earning at least 125 marks a month.

The marriage loan will be financed by a tax on all unmarried men and women.

Firms buying new machinery which does not lead to the diminution of labour will have income-tax reduced.

An appeal is made for voluntary subscriptions to the national fund to create work.—Reuter.

DIE-HARD SOLICITUDE FOR INDIA

'India Defence League' Will Honour Pledged Words But Can't Ignore Welfare Of People

LONDON, June 1.

The India Defence League Council consists of prominent men in public life including Lord Amptihill, Lord Birkenhead, Lord Charnwood, Lord Melchett, Sir Basil Peto.

An official statement of the League says that the commitments of Parliament regarding Indian constitutional development must be honoured in the letter and spirit, but the obligations of Britain incurred regarding, the welfare and advancement of the Indian peoples are equally binding.

The establishment of a so-called democratic institution in the provinces simultaneously with responsible Government established at the Centre, would, whatever be the safeguards in the existing state of Indian society, hazard the lives, liberties and fortunes of 350 millions of fellow subjects.

The transference of judiciary and police is very dangerous to all concerned and no representative body of Indians accepts or can undertake to work such a constitution.

The statement concludes that the League has been formed to bring all aspects of the Indian question before the British people. —Reuter.

NO POLITICAL OUTRAGE

Attempt On Frontier Officer's Life

PESHAWAR, June 1.

No political significance is attached to the unsuccessful attempt on the life of Mr. Wood, District Officer, Frontier Constabulary at Shabandar.

The attempt is believed to be the work of two desparate outlaws, who have been at large since a year in a thickly wooded country surrounding Thatagram village.

It appears that Mr. Wood was camping at Hasanzai side of the river bank four miles from Thatagram. On the night of May 29, at about 2 a.m. two armed outlaws, taking advantage of pitch darkness stole up to the tent in which Mr. Wood was sleeping, and fired nine shots from a range of about three yards. The bullets piercing through the tent and the mosquito net struck a bicycle and broke its front wheel. Six more shots were fired but fortunately none was injured.

Nine .303 and five .275 cartridges have been recovered.

The assailants have escaped.—A.P.

ARYA SAMAJ MEETING TABOOED AT HALIKHED

Sequel To Boycott Of Muslim Fairs

HYDERABAD (Deccan), June 1.

Last week, the Taluqdar of Halikhed disallowed an Arya Samajist meeting on the ground that under the rules relating to public meetings permission had not been obtained previously.

From information now to hand, it is learned that for some time past, some ill-feeling has been existing between Hindus and Muslims of Halikhed, consequent on the local Arya Samajists, according to the Muslim version, seeking to prevent Hindus attending the mela at the "chilla" of Hazrat Shaikh Farid Shaker Gunj, a Muslim saint of the Punjab.

Furthermore, some time before, the proposed meeting was to be held, the Arya Samajists, according to information, took out a procession without permission and in that connection held wrestling bouts, sword plays and other similar demonstrations, which included speeches urging Hindus to boycott Muslim melas and to donate the money saved towards Hindu charities.

Before obtaining permission, the Arya Samajists announced through handbills and posters the proposed meeting and procession. As this was against the established rules, the Taluqdar issued a proclamation, which he broadcast warning the public not to convene or hold or attend any meeting in Halikhed. The police also adopted other preventive measures.—A.P.

SEPARATION OF BURMA

Sir Charles Innes Declares That Controversy Should Be Settled Soon

LONDON, June 1.

The opinion that the controversy over the separation of Burma ought to be settled as soon as possible, was expressed by Sir Charles Innes, ex-Governor of Burma, presiding at the annual Burma Dinner attended by about 200 persons to-night. He said that he did not know what course would be taken, but expressing a purely personal opinion, hoped that there would be no further election on the question.

He hoped that the British Government would decide it. He did not know what the decision would be, but if they looked at the question on merits, and they had the facts in the Simon Report, there should be no difficulty in deciding that Burma should separate.

On the contrary, the authorities might reasonably take the view, that it would be a serious matter to separate since Burma had been so long as part of India, and since Burma had not given a decisive vote the best thing would be to retain the 'status quo.'

If that was the result Burma would have herself to thank. Whatever the final decision he hoped it would be thoroughly acceptable to Burma.

Sir Harcourt Butler proposing the "Prosperity of Burma" regretted he saw few signs of prosperity at present, but he believed that better times were coming.

There were already signs of it in Britain, and he hoped that it would spread to Burma which deserved prosperity. Sir Harcourt hoped that she would obtain it. —Reuter
